

Businessmen Key to 'Pike Plan' in Uptown Sector

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency is prepared to spend $431,000 on the "Pike Plan" in the Uptown business section, but first it needs $16,250 from those merchants.

Or as James G. Connors, executive director of the Agency puts it, "Without the participation of the private sector we cannot carry out this plan."

Involved in the initial planning are both sides of Wall Street from John to North Front Street and both sides of North Front Street from Fair Street to Crown Street.

There are 59 stores on those two streets, which under a proposal by John Pike, famed Woodstock artist, would be rehabilitated into a uniform turn of the century motif.

Pike is working with Kingston Architect Albert E. Milliken who has come up with a cost formula for the design stage of the project. Under Milliken's formula, the urban renewal agency pays $50 per lineal foot on the two streets for design and architectural services while the merchants pay $10 per lineal foot. The cost to the agency would be $81,250. The cost to the merchants, $16,250. The agency and the merchants, for that $97,500 fee would get all design work, specifications drawn up for each store and supervision of construction while the work is being carried out.

The merchants, according to Glen Stampfle, president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, are in agreement with the plan, some to the point of "enthusiastic."

"We polled our members on the plan a year ago," Stampfle told The Freeman. "There was great acceptance." Stampfle says that the Pike concept will bring the area back to what it looked at the turn of the century (most of the buildings were constructed between 1880 and 1920) and have a "tremendous economic impact on the area."

While the agency will bear the bulk of the design cost and will pay for all the public improvements, such as new paving and sidewalks and landscaping, work on individual properties is the responsibility of the respective owners. The agency will expand in excess of $300,000 "in above the ground improvements" with a separate contract planned for underground sewage and water lines in the area.

The agency will also pay for canopies along the streets as part of the overall Pike Plan.

The plan, according to Stampfle and Connors, is to concentrate on the east side of Wall Street, the side where Penney's, Kingston Luggage and Kaye's Sportswear are located. There are 17 stores on that side. Allowing that there are some businessmen reluctant to go into the project, Connors says, "If we can develop the east side of Wall Street it can serve as an example of what can be done to the rest of the businessmen."

There have been some questions raised on future parking, however, since under the plan as currently envisioned, there will be no parking on either North Front or Wall Streets.

Another incentive might be the fact that three per cent, 20-year government loans are available in the area, although there are some strings attached. The loans are not available to improve only the exterior of the buildings, being earmarked primarily to bringing the (interior of the) building up to code enforcement standards. That would include such things as improvements to the electrical and plumbing systems. However, Connors reasons that if interior work is carried out, exterior work could be included as part of an overall improvement of the building.

The businessmen's association is working with Milliken and the agency toward a November completion of Phase I of the project, the East side of Wall Street.

The Pike plan was unveiled at a meeting of the Businessmen's Association in December of 1969 and met with immediate acceptance. Fred Johnston, chairman of the Kingston Landmarks Preservation Commission, who made the initial presentation, described the plan as an example of "creative imagination."

Johnston emphasized, however, that the renovation would not create a museum. "This will be a vital, working area," he said. "If anything, we hope business will increase from this restoration."

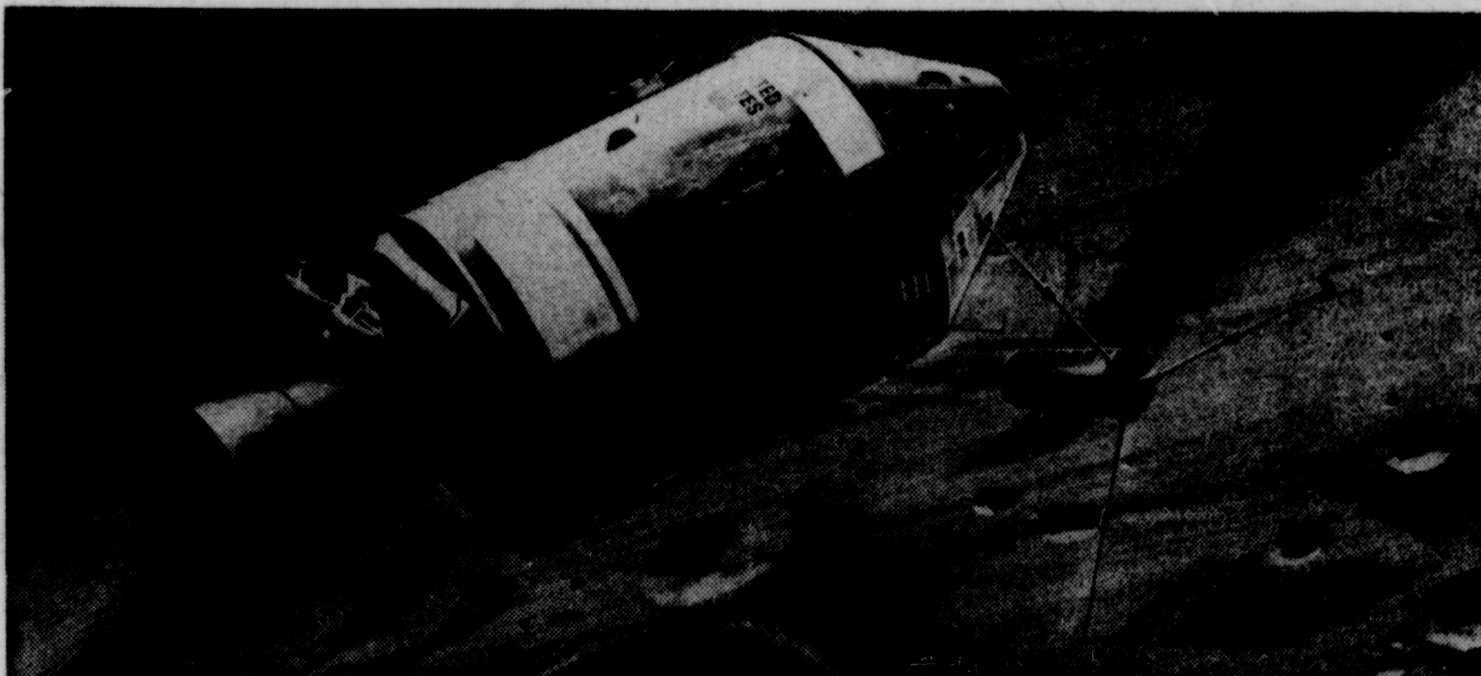

Stampfle, in a news letter to the businessmen's association mailed last week, urges them "to stick together so that the Pike Plan can come to fruition."

Moon Landing in Balance

Faulty Switch Causing Apollo 15 Problem

MOON-ORBITING SATELLITE—This satellite is an artist's concept of a small satellite designed to ride piggy-back to the moon aboard Apollo 15. It will be kicked into orbit of the moon by a spring-loaded separation mechanism just before the service module's propulsion system is fired for the return to earth. The satellite will carry particle detectors and magnetometers to obtain information about the interaction of the Earth's magnetic field with the moon.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 15's astronauts sped almost halfway to the moon today, but whether they could land there Friday hinged on an investigation into a nagging short circuit involving the giant main engine that will bring them back to earth.

A verdict on whether to land man's most ambitious lunar adventure was expected late today when David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden and James B. Irwin try firing their big command ship engine to make a minor course correction.

The astronauts were in no danger, and there was no question they could get back to earth even if the troublesome control panel switch causes the landing to be scrubbed.

But if Scott and Irwin are unable to land, it would be a serious setback to America's space effort—a second failure in the last three moon landing attempts. Apollo 13 orbited the moon in April 1970, but could not land after a midspace explosion knocked out its primary power system.

Flight Director Milton Windler said he thought there was only a low probability the problem would prove serious enough to block the landing.

The problem cropped up only a few hours after Apollo 15 was launched from Cape Kennedy Monday and remained the only question mark of the planned 12-day expedition to the base of some of the moon's tallest mountains.

The difficulty involved an instrument panel light that flickered on when it should have been off. This was symptomatic of three possible problems, the worst of which would mean the landing attempt would be canceled and the major scientific objectives of the mission lost.

"The analysis to date seems to indicate that we probably have an engine that will work okay, or can be made to work okay," Windler said.

The astronauts wrestled with the problem on and off Monday afternoon and finally ended their first long day in space at 12:14 a.m. EDT today. Before going to sleep, ground communicator Karl G. Heinze asked the space flyers how the view was, with earth 75,000 miles away.

"It's fantastic, Karl," reported Worden. "You ought to see it man."

"I'm eating my heart out," replied Heinze, a scientist-astronaut still awaiting for his first spaceflight assignment.

The light, when working properly, is to signal that the command ship's main engine is firing. It did not fire—and was not supposed to—when the light came on and engineers said that meant there was a short circuit somewhere in the system.

Windler listed three possibilities:

—The short could be in the instrumentation itself, which would not affect the mission.

—The short could be in the switch, which would mean the engine would fire prematurely if steps were not taken to prevent it. This, Windler said, could be circumvented by devising alternate procedures and Apollo 15 could still land on the moon.

—The short may be deeper in the system and would blow a set of the engine's circuit breakers. The engine would still operate but its backup system would be eliminated and under these conditions Apollo 15 would not be permitted to land on the moon.

"I don't think we'll know what the situation is until we try to light the engine," Windler said. The 20,500-pound thrust engine is used to brake the

Off-Track Betting Proposal Weighed for November Ballot

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON

Ulster County's off-track pari-mutual betting proposal, which was referred to committee for further study in February, may be placed on the November ballot for a final decision by the voters.

The controversial proposal, first made public at the January meeting of the Ulster County Legislature, has been under study by members of the Legislature's Tax Base Committee for the past six months.

That committee will meet Wednesday night at the Ulster County Office Building, and the off-track betting proposal is reportedly listed among the items to be discussed.

The fate of the measure may rest in the hands of the committee members. If a majority of the members are in favor of the proposal, they can vote it out of committee and onto the Legislature floor. There, the entire Legislature can vote on whether or not to place the matter on the November ballot.

The opposite also holds true. If a majority of the committee members are against the proposal, the matter may not reach the Legislature floor.

Time now is of major importance. The deadline for placing a voter referendum item on the ballot is September 13. As a result, both the committee and the Legislature must approve the matter before that date, or the off-track betting proposal cannot gain approval in 1971.

Its prospects for success, at this time, are uncertain. There has been no concrete indication of how the committee members stand on the matter.

Special

Ralph Brach, (R-Dist. 9), chairman of the Tax Base Study Committee, confirmed that his committee will meet Wednesday night but declined to speculate on the meeting's outcome. "You never can tell what might happen at a committee meeting," he said.

The Tax Base Study Committee, it was indicated, has met "four or five" times since February to discuss off-track betting.

A resolution authorizing the County Legislature to conduct off-track pari-mutual betting within the county was first proposed in January by Legislator John C. Sangaline (R-City).

At the time, Sangaline said he felt that he had enough votes to assure passage of the measure and that he felt that an off-track system in Ulster County would prove to be a financial windfall for taxpayers, adding hundreds of thousands of dollars to the county's coffers.

Several days earlier, minority leader Roger Mabie (D-Dist. 7), in presenting his party's platform for 1971, urged that a feasibility study of off-track betting be undertaken. Mabie, however, added that he was not openly advocating the plan.

Since then, there have been numerous opinions expressed concerning the proposal, some of them unfavorable. The Hudson Valley Evangelical Ministerial Association, for one, has expressed its opposition to the plan saying, "We cannot gamble our way to prosperity."

Greene County was the first upstate county to move towards implementation of an off-track betting program. The Greene County Legislature approved the measure unanimously on January 4, but its application was subsequently rejected by the state's Off Track Betting Commission. The matter still has not been resolved.

Joint Talks Recessed Indefinitely

Congress May Enter RR Dispute

(Combined Wire Services)

WASHINGTON — With negotiations derailed by a continuing deadlock over work rules, the Labor Department has recessed joint talks indefinitely in a growing railroad strike that may yet see congressional intervention.

Combined union-management negotiations were suspended indefinitely Monday with an announcement by W.J. Usery Jr., assistant secretary of labor, that "a voluntary solution cannot be reached at this time."

Usery indicated Sunday he thought a settlement might be near, but conceded after the talks broke off he had underestimated differences between the United Transportation Union and the four railroads over a work rule requiring crew changes every 100 miles.

Mediators planned to meet separately with management and union representatives today, but Usery was unwilling to predict when joint talks might resume.

There were indications, meanwhile, of mounting pressure for legislation to force an end to the strike that has closed down the Southern, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Norfolk and Western lines.

A Labor Department spokesman said the Nixon administration has refrained from seeking strike-ending legislation

"because economic pressures have not been such to require legislation."

The walkout already has affected approximately 20 per cent of the nation's rail cargo and tied up shipments of grain, coal, food and other goods in 17 states.

The UTU says it will strike six other railroads Friday: the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe; Alton & Southern; Houston Belt & Terminal; Duluth, Mesabi & Iron Range; Joliet & Eastern; and Bessemer and Lake Erie.

Five other lines scheduled for strikes Aug. 6 are the Baltimore & Ohio; Chesapeake & Ohio; Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; and Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

But there was good news from two other strike fronts.

The 58-day-old strike against Western Union ended, except in the New York City area, and the company said the public could send telegrams once again after 12:01 a.m. EDT Wednesday. Picket lines came down after the tentative agreement was reached with the United Telegraph Workers Union but the strike continued in New York where the company is bargaining with a different union.

Nearly 3,000 copper workers returned to their jobs at two firms in Arizona and negotiators said a settlement covering 10,000 Kennecott Copper Corp. workers in four states appeared near.

The leader of the state's 23 striking telephone locals said Monday the national union and the New York Telephone Co. tried to exclude the state locals from contract talks.

State Chairman Daniel Keenan told a union meeting in Queens that he has asked New York Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz to investigate the negotiations which led to tentative acceptance of a new nationwide telephone contract by the Communications Workers of America (CWA).

"We feel there has been collusion to cut New York out of the bargaining ..." Keenan said.

Landfill Topic at Hurley Meeting

TOWN OF HURLEY—Hurley's sanitary landfill was the topic of most of the discussion at Monday's meeting of the Town Board.

Increasing concern had been expressed by the Town Board recently over the inflated costs of operating the landfill, and Hurley councilmen are taking steps to cut back operating expenditures.

It was noted at the meeting that some 6,000 yards of fill has already been used at the landfill site at a cost to the town of some $8,700. These figures are reportedly running ahead of last year's expenditures.

One of the moves taken by the board was to authorize Supervisor George Schroeder to purchase car stickers for town residents in order to prevent unauthorized persons from using the dump. The board also requested that a letter be sent to the commercial refuse collectors in the area asking that they not dump at the landfill after 3 p.m., so that the area can be covered before custodians leave at 4 p.m.

The landfill is located behind the Town Garage in West Hurley.

In other matters, Schroeder revealed that the state has mandated that an Assessor Review Board be appointed before October 1. It was indicated that the review board will probably consist of three members, whose duties will be to conduct activities on their efforts in cutting back expenditures. The Supervisor reported that all departments, with the exception of the landfill, appear to be operating within budget limitations.

The Town Board passed a resolution endorsing the Planning Board's adoption of a Master Plan for the township.

Also, it was announced that a public hearing will be scheduled on a request by residents of Rolling Meadows to extend the lighting district into their area.

Two Youths Arrested in Woodstock

WOODSTOCK—Investigation by town police of complaints about youths loitering on property of the Mill Stream Motel here, resulted in the arrests Monday of two youths on charges of criminal trespass fourth degree.

Meanwhile, Rhinebeck State Police took a Massachusetts youth in custody on a drugs count.

Chief Constable William E. Waterous said Officers Ludwig Baumgarten and Deputy Sheriff Richard Ostrander went to the motel at about 3:30 p.m. and found Roy Pool, 20, and Frank Carlson, 19, of 5 Rock City Road and three juveniles.

Police noted that Pool was apparently concealing something under his feet and when the youth was moved the arresting officers picked up two glassine packs of drugs, believed to be heroine. The contents of the packs were sent to the State Police laboratory in Albany for analysis, Waterous said.

The three minors were released in custody of their parents.

Pool was booked for criminal trespass fourth degree and criminal possession of dangerous drugs 6th degree. Carlson was arrested on charges of loitering for the purpose of unlawful use or possessing drugs, and criminal trespass fourth degree.

Baumgarten and Ostrander arraigned the youths before Town Justice Rudolf Baumgarten. They requested a trial and hearing was adjourned. Pool was held in $100 bail and Carl-

Advisory Review Group To Be Formed in Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK The Rhinebeck Board of Education Monday night unanimously passed a resolution forming an advisory committee to review criteria for student awards.

The action came following a ten-minute discussion prompted by board member Albert Vinck's suggestion.

Vinck began by asking when was the last time that award procedures to students, particularly those given out at commencement exercises, were reviewed.

He said he suspected "de facto segregation" and incidences of "discrimination" in some of the criteria used to evaluate the recipient.

And he gave as an example an award to Boys' State given by the American Legion specifying that candidates must be devoid of facial hair or long hair.

District Principal Ralph Steeves said that the recipients for all of the annual awards are chosen by high school teacher voting, but that the donating organization specifies the criteria.

"If you feel there are problems, then the Board should make a determination of which may be detrimental," said Steeves, "to the community, not the individual."

And he added that he was somewhat critical of the method of dispensing awards at high school commencement when he first came to Rhinebeck, as many were not senior-oriented awards, but he cited tradition as the reason.

Vinck said he was aware that Rhinebeck was "founded in the past," and added that this could not excuse "prejudice" taking place.

Board vice-president James Kelly and member John Grim questioned the advisability of having students on this advisory committee, along with teachers and board members, but voted with the establishment of the committee.

In other business, several bids were opened and most were referred to the business manager.

Bids awarded were: sidewalks and paths for the high school and Chancellor Livingston Elementary School for $1,690 and $1,700 respectively; milk products to Rhinebeck Dairy; ice cream to Borden's.

Deferred were an accounting machine worth "several thousand dollars," according to Steeves; transportation for the handicapped; and school and art supplies.

Steeves also said, in answer to a question, that soundproofing for the interior of the Bulkely School will be installed by the opening of school.

A letter of resignation from elementary librarian Catherine L. Wise was accepted with regrets.

A letter from James Loftus, Board of Elections, suggesting that the district now needs voter registration was read and will be investigated. Loftus said that inspectors used to know all of the voters, but the time for that is past.

Hans Boehm, board president, said in absentia that he backed a proposal from the Pawling Central School District advocating that a new BOCES superintendent and other administrative officials be chosen with some voice from the individual school districts.

Grim said that "this is a basic weakness of BOCES from the individual school's point of view; we can ask, but they don't have to let us in." A letter will be sent to BOCES requesting that district's be privy to personnel information prior to selection.

Teachers' Pact Ratified

RHINEBECK The Rhinebeck Board of Education Monday night ratified the 1971-72 contract with the Rhinebeck Teachers' Association, contingent upon the final wording, according to District Principal Ralph C. Steeves.

In action taken following an extended executive session after regular business, the Board agreed to the same document, basically that the teachers had agreed to a week prior.

The salary schedule will be set up around the basic starting year's contract talks begin, not salary with bachelor's degree of $7,700. It differed slightly from the PERB fact finder's recommendation of $7,800, and was a jump from the 1970-71 contract calling for $7,100.

Other steps varied accordingly, and other items such as grievance procedures were worked out. Steeves said that the problems there were basic "wording."

The action taken by the Board in ratifying the contract does, for all practical purposes, conclude the matter until next year's contract talks begin, not

He said that the final document will probably be ready by the Aug. 9 regular school board meeting and will become a public document.

Prior to Monday's ratification, a legislative public hearing scheduled for about ten days ago was quickly adjourned when it was announced that both sides had made exceptional progress in the talks.

And in other executive action taken Monday night, the Board appointed Mary Catherine Dempster as elementary school librarian.

N. Dutchess Dems Select Candidates

RHINEBECK While the Democratic party in Northern Dutchess County has built no platforms as yet, its slate of candidates for November's county representative races has been selected and all are familiar faces to those who follow politics.

Democrats from the Towns of Red Hook, Rhinebeck, Milan and Pine Plains caucused recently and resolved to back Thomas Hayes, Joseph McMichael, and Phillip Tucciarone for the three-at-large representative slots in the newly reapportioned District One.

They will challenge three GOP incumbents: Madison Sipperley Jr. of Red Hook; Kenneth Stewart of Rhinebeck; and Clyde Chase of Pine Plains.

Hayes ran for the same job two years ago in opposition to Stewart. He is a retired vice-president in charge of sales for a New York shoe manufacturing concern, and has lived in Rhinebeck for six years.

Hayes is a Democratic committeeman, residing on Cedar Heights Road, with his wife of 42 years. He was Northern Dutchess coordinator for John Dyson during his congressional bid in 1963.

He was educated in the New York City school system and his two children are teachers, one in Rhinebeck and the other in Plainville, L.I.

In regard to the recent reapportionment of Dutchess County Hayes said that there is no use in looking back. "It's something we have to live with," he stated. He also expressed some concern to The Freeman on the imminent establishment of a major cargo jetport at Stewart Air Force Base in Newburgh, saying he had lived for 29 years near Idlewild (Kennedy) Airport and was familiar with the problems.

Joseph McMichael, 5 Fisk Street, Red Hook, ran against former Red Hook Town Supervisor Billy Moore unsuccessfully about ten years ago, and also ran unsuccessfully for Town Councilman in the mid-1960s. He has been active in area politics since 1952, according to Town Democratic Chairman Walter Bayer.

McMichael works for Schneider's Jewelers, Kingston, and has been a lifelong resident of Red Hook, where he lives with his wife Helen and three children.

He is on vacation this week and was unavailable for comment.

And Phillip Tucciarone made his first venture into area politics in 1969 when he ran unsuccessfully for Town Councilman.

He is an employee of IBM, Kingston, as an associate engineer and is not married.

Tucciarone resides at 2 Hewlett Road, Red Hook, where he has made his home since 1958.

In speaking with The Freeman he said he has "always been a registered Democrat" and has been a committeeman for eight years.

And, while declining comment on as yet nebulous campaign issues, Tucciarone said he will adopt a "positive, rather than negative, attitude" in speaking on issues.

Progress on New Ferncliff Home

RHINEBECK Three and four story segments of the steel and concrete structure loom out of muddy earth on River Road, Rhinebeck, rising starkly from the hilly landscape.

The Catholic Charities sponsored home for the aged is scheduled for completion sometime in early 1973, and has been proceeding on the building schedule satisfactorily.

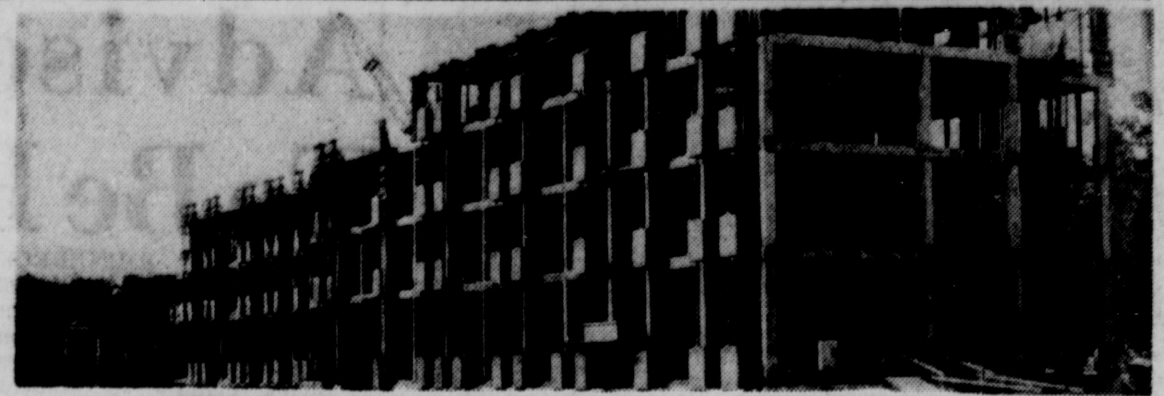

The cost of the building is being aided by a loan of $11,700,000 from the New York State Housing Finance Agency.

The Carmelite Sisters for the Aged will staff and administer the home with a local payroll of about $2 million and a total staff numbering more than 250 persons.

General contractor for the job is Warwick Construction of Warwick, New York. Site planners are Abel and Bainson.

New York; architects are Bel-fatto and Pavarini, New York; structural engineers are Epel Engineers, New York; and mechanical engineer is Arthur Edwards, New York.

The home will provide a long-term home for the aged and the infirm, as well as facilities for physiotherapy.

New Paltz College Sets Art Workshop

NEW PALTZ A summer art workshop for high school juniors interested in studying drawing, painting, sculpture and photography under the supervision of a college faculty will be offered by State University College, New Paltz.

The program, directed by Dale Stein, professor of drawing and design, will begin with an orientation meeting on Sunday evening, Aug. 15, and will run through Aug. 28.

Mornings will be devoted to classroom sessions, with afternoons free for recreation and studio work. Evenings will offer a variety of activities including speakers, movies, group discussions and special events.

At least two field trips are planned. Participants will reside in supervised dormitories on the campus.

Persons interested in further information and enrollment forms should contact Dr. Robert C. Davidson, director, Center for Continuing Education, at the college.

Ankony Angus Selling Land

RHINEBECK The reported asking price for the land and four buildings is $650,000.

The land is located east and west of the Village of Rhinebeck with frontage on Route 9G, Violet Hill Road, and River Road.

The largest part of the land is zoned 1.5 acres agricultural or residential by the Town Zoning Law.

State Gives Contract To Kingston Firm

ALBANY The awarding of a $277,000 contract for the Safety Rehabilitation Project at the Ontario State University campus to a Kingston firm was announced recently by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell (R-Woodstock).

The Thomas O'Leary Electrical Co., Inc., of Sawkill Road, Kingston, has been awarded the contract based on its competitive bid of $277,850, according to Bell.

The contract was awarded by Joseph A. Finn, director of the State University Construction Fund.

Bell noted that the O'Leary firm was also recently awarded the contract for the electrical installations of the new Ulster County Jail.

Lake Faces Oil Threats

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — The Lake Champlain Committee reported Monday that Lake Champlain faces "a rapidly increasing threat" from oil spills.

In its July newsletter, the group detailed seven oil spills this year, and 21 since 1964.

Six of the spills resulted in fines, the group said, while four remain in the courts. No action was taken in 11 cases.

Although more than half the spills occurred on the Vermont side, one of the most serious listed was at Plattsburgh last March, when 30,000 gallons overflowed a tank.

The committee noted that the spills have occurred despite vigorous, after-the-fact prosecution, and cited an Oliver Quayle poll which showed 72 per cent of Vermont residents favored stronger controls for the lake.

Police Spot Woman's Body

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The body of 20-year-old Betty Johnson, was discovered Monday in a backyard here, police said.

Homicide detectives said the scantily clad body was found in shrubbery at 1431 Jefferson Ave. Preliminary investigation failed to detect any foul play, but police said it appeared the victim was carried to the spot where she was found.

The medical examiner's report was incomplete.

The woman formerly lived at a Woodlawn Avenue address.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators opposed to government aid for Lockheed Aircraft Corp. have scored two impressive
victories, indicating President
Nixon's request to grant the company $250 million in federal loan backing may be in deep trouble.

With surprising ease, Lockheed opponents led by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., defeated the first attempt Monday to limit debate.

They then beat back an effort to kill an amendment removing favorable status from Lockheed from a bill to rescue any major business in financial trouble.

That amendment was pending before the Senate today although Lockheed backers appear unlikely to allow a vote soon. Evidently sensing its passage they blocked a direct vote
Monday night.

Both Proxmire and the administration's chief floor spokesman, Sen. John Tower,
R-Tex., said Lockheed supporters came off far worse than either expected in the vote on limiting debate. The vote was 47 against cutting off debate and 42 for, 18 votes shy of the needed two-thirds.

Although cloture often fails on the first try, those seeking to end a filibuster usually muster at least a majority.

Tower said 12 senators had told him they would switch to the administration in the next effort Wednesday. He said if cloture fails then, successive attempts will be made through next Tuesday when, he said, it might be too late to get legislation enacted before the congressional recess starts Aug. 6.

Senate refusal by a 45-36 vote to table an amendment by Sen.
Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill.,
was an unexpected blow to Lockheed.

Under the bill before the Senate, which was broadened from an original request for specific Lockheed aid, a three-man board would have authority to grant up to $250 million for any big business in trouble.

The board, however, would have to give Congress 20 days' notice of a pending guarantee with either chamber then having the right to veto it. To protect Lockheed, the Senate

company would not be subjected to another round in the House and Senate if the legislation were enacted.

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — A strong earthquake shook three countries in northwest South America Monday night, but there were no reports of serious injuries or severe damage. The shocks were felt in Ecuador, Colombia and northern Peru. The U.S. National Earthquake Information Center in Washington said the quake appeared to be centered 120 miles below ground on the Peru-Ecuador border. Seismographs in Washington registered the quake at 7.1 on the Richter scale, indicating a strong shock. But its depth below the surface was believed to have minimized the effects. The quake was the strongest ever felt in Guayaquil, Ecuador's chief port. There six houses collapsed, another 20 were seriously damaged, a few persons were treated for nervous shock and bruises, and electric and telephone services were interrupted in some sections.

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UPI)—A man and a woman whose decomposed bodies were discovered on the edge of the U. S. Military Academy reservation had been shot to death, state police said today.

Troopers called the case "definitely homicide."

The bodies were found Monday at a campsite where a man with a strong odor in the area just off Route 218 and investigated.

The man and woman apparently were Negroes, police said.

The bodies were taken to Howard Memorial Hospital in Middletown, where autopsies disclosed bullet wounds.

Lottery Set for Draft

The bill extending the draft is given no chance of passing before Congress returns from the summer recess in September, if even then. But the Selective Service has set a draft lottery for August 5. The reason is to dispel the doubts of the next class of men who might be drafted. Those who draw the low numbers will be able to make their plans for the future.

That shows consideration for the 19-year-olds, but what about the others whose numbers are high, who have been awaiting calls, or who have been processed up to the actual induction and cannot be called because Selective Service has no authority to draft them until a new law is passed? They are the forgotten men, or perhaps the frustrated men, who don't know how to make plans of any kind.

Some of these men have been volunteering for service. For every young man drafted, Selective Service says three others volunteer in order to get their preference of service and specialties. What worries Selective Service is that with the draft languishing in congressional conference, young men will begin to think that the draft is a thing of the past.

Scheduling the next lottery, which is allowed by law, is one way of informing those to be drafted in 1972 that the draft is still around. It also serves to alert young men who might have hoped otherwise.

Canned Goods Shopping

The recent food poisoning scare has made women shoppers more aware. They look at cans and feel them. They are more conscious of the possible fatal telltale swelling of the can.

The scare followed the Food and Drug Administration order for recall of soups, sauces and other products packed by Bon Vivant, Inc., of Newark, N. J., under its own and the labels of 33 gourmet food distributors. It was touched off when a man died after eating cold vichyssoise soup and his wife, who also ate the soup, was critically ill.

Most botulism deaths occur as a result of faulty preparation of homemade preserves. But occasionally, as in the past with canned tuna, infection is traced to commercially prepared foods. Contamination is the result of inadequate cooking that failed to kill the infectious agent.

If, through improper methods, some spores of Clostridium botulinus are sealed alive inside a can, the germs sometimes betray their presence by producing a swelling of the can. They also cause the food to smell strangely. Sometimes there is no indication of their presence. Then the only theoretical safeguard would be a vigorous boiling for 15 minutes or more.

Lois Meyer, an FDA consumer specialist, says beware of badly dented, rusted or swollen cans. Damaged cans are often deceptive bargains. Beware.

AGAINST RESIDUAL FORCE — A Gallop poll found 3 out of 5 Americans opposed to keeping a residual force in Vietnam after the main force is withdrawn. The vote was 60 to 40 against. This many Americans want to be out of Vietnam completely when their commitment ends. They wish South Vietnam well, but no more military presence.

MAGNA CARTA HONORED — American lawyers, attending the American Bar Association convention in London, traveled to Runnymede to honor Magna Carta, which was granted there by King John to the English barons. Its concepts were embodied in our own Bill of Rights more than 500 years later.

David Lawrence Says It's President's Duty To Conduct Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON — Some members of Congress unwittingly would set up a system that not only might weaken American diplomatic power abroad but could impair governmental operations in the executive branch at home. The theory that Congress alone can "declare war" is correct. The President, however, has the duty and responsibility to conduct foreign policy and make such moves as may prevent the American people from being thrust into a world war.

The presidency is not just a political office, as a number of Congressmen seem to feel. It is a center of authority over a mechanism of investigation, with representatives in various parts of the world whose business is to discover what is being plotted against the United States and its allies.

When a deliberate effort is made to violate the independence of a small country and the United States has expressed an interest in the safety of such a nation, it would seem necessary for members of Congress to know the entire background before taking steps to interfere with the operations of foreign policy. Only a continuing day-by-day study could provide the knowledge.

The Senate has just approved a 100,000 dollar appropriation for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to investigate the origins of the Vietnam War. It would be helpful if somehow a number of former high officials of the executive departments could explain to the members of the Senate Committee the intricacies of the phase "national security." The impression seems to prevail that this concerns only a threat of attack or invasion. Today, foreign policy for the United States covers relations with many countries which are supported by the Communists and must take into account what the troop deployments and naval strategy changes of our adversaries happen to be from week to week. Not all the movements of Russian submarines — armed with Polaris-type missiles — into American waters or close to our Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean become known publicly. Nor is it wise for the Defense or State Department to talk about them.

One Senator has introduced legislation which would require the President to terminate in 30 days or less any military action abroad he may have initiated in the absence of a declaration of war if the Congress told him to do so. Not only is this proposal inconsistent with the power of the President under the Constitution to protect the lives of Americans overseas, but it would be a step that could threaten our national security at home. When the United States becomes involved militarily, it is up to Congress to learn all the pros and cons. Sometimes "a declaration of war" could be disadvantageous to American trade. It could also make it difficult to maintain relations with all countries.

Congress has many ways to find out the essential facts about any involvement in a military operation which the President has undertaken. The Commander-in-Chief, whoever he may be, is usually willing to explain in confidence the dangers that caused American participation. Such conferences are much better than legislation which would limit the powers of a president in an emergency situation. In the North Atlantic Treaty, for instance, which was ratified by the Senate in 1949, it is provided that if an "armed attack" occurs against one or more of the members in Europe or North America, this "shall be considered an attack against them all." Under the treaty, each of them would take "such action as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force, to restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area." No provision was made for a declaration of war by Congress in the NATO Treaty. There are references in other treaties to the use of "constitutional processes."

In the case of South Vietnam, the Gulf of Tonkin resolution adopted in 1964 was at that time considered broad enough to be the equivalent of congressional consent to the President's use of our armed forces in the Southeast Asia area. The resolution was recently repealed without opposition from the Nixon administration, which takes the position that our participation in the Vietnam War is being gradually terminated and that the protection of American troops still remains a constitutional responsibility of the President.

The more the subject is examined, the less likely it is to be found that a limitation on the President's power to protect national security can be imposed by Congress under the constitution.

campaign. What they want, says one source, is to create a "sense of the inevitability" of his nomination.

The Muskies strategists see no political logic in waiting until primary time next March to begin creating that aura of victory. To suggestions that the crusher ought not to be applied to rivals in the 1971 months remaining the answer comes swiftly, as a question: "When do we begin to succeed?"

The senator's command group is not openly fingering any particular rivals as prospective early drop-outs. Public opinion polls thus far show very thin popular backing for Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana. Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota and Henry Jackson of Washington are hardly better off, but a strong conviction exists that they are firmly committed to at least some of the large primaries.

The Muskies strategists' approach — beat 'em when and where you can, early or late — may be conventional in a time when conventional politics is under fire. But it is also compellingly natural. To practice "live and let live" with a roomful of rivals may sound eminently fair and engagingly untraditional. Trouble is, someone whom you "let live" in November may rise up to smite you in March. To suppress the "killer instinct" is to be artificial and unreal in politics.

Jack Anderson Says AID Official Created Uproar During Agnew's Kenyan Visit

WASHINGTON — The raucous misbehavior of a top American diplomat during Vice President Agnew's recent visit to Kenya has created a behind-the-scenes uproar that has reached Washington's highest levels.

The errant diplomat is AID administrator in Kenya, Bert M. Tollefson Jr., 41, an ex-corn lobbyist and Republican politico from South Dakota. His antics are colorfully detailed in a series of confidential State Department telegrams.

The American Ambassador to Kenya, Robinson McIlvaine, was so outraged that he fired off the blistering "eyes only" wires to Tollefson's boss, John A. Hannah, head of the Agency for International Development. We have obtained copies of McIlvaine's missives.

"I regret to inform you," McIlvaine wrote in one cable, "that Bert Tollefson blotted his copy book (diplomatic jargon for 'fouled up') so badly during the Vice President's visit as to raise serious question as to his suitability for service abroad. Indeed you may be hearing from the Vice President directly on the matter."

"The problem started with Bert's well-known pushiness and general lack of sensitivity and culminated in his getting sloshed at Treetops (a fancy lodge on the edge of the jungle), making passes at the Vice President's secretary and trying to drag her down the steps to meet an elephant at ground level."

The sequence of events that led up to this drunken climax, wrote McIlvaine, began when Tollefson was officially informed that "no Americans were invited to join the Vice President's group at Treetops. (Tollefson) came anyhow on his own and canvassed Kenyans for a bed in one of their rooms. In the end he talked someone out of a room to himself."

In the course of the evening, McIlvaine related, Tollefson "repeatedly interrupted" Kenyan officials who "were explaining animals" to the Vice President. "The owner of Treetops," the Ambassador wrote, "at one point asked me, 'who is that jackass?' — pointing to Bert."

"The incident with the Vice President's secretary," continued McIlvaine, "took place in the small hours of the morning. According to her it took all her strength to get away from him."

Even Kenyan Ambassador to the U.S. Leonard Kibinge, who was there, commented on Tollefson's "condition," McIlvaine said.

"The next morning, Bert slept through the departure at 0900 and when he did awake took the remaining Secret Service car to Nyeri leaving them stranded and furious... A car had to be sent the 100 miles up to Nyeri to bring Bert back."

The whole affair, McIlvaine concluded, had substantiated his misgivings about Tollefson's performance during his three months as head of the AID program in Kenya.

"Prior to bringing out his family I developed serious questions about his judgment. He reinforced this impression by sending me a telegram from Washington... implying that the Vice President wanted him to co-host the reception we were giving in the Vice President's honor. Naturally I checked this with the Vice President and he was incredulous."

"What to do about it? One might conclude that the whole affair would be a fairly penetrating lesson to him. But then I am not sure that people with such thick hides ever learn anything."

"I can, of course, live with the situation but will have to spend a lot of time riding herd and wonder whether all that effort is warranted in support of 'Peter's Principle.'" (The Peter Principle is a tongue-in-cheek theory which holds that everyone eventually rises to his own level of incompetence.)

When asked about the incident, AID Administrator Hannah refused comment except to call Tollefson "a very respectable fellow" and to inquire where we obtained the confidential cables. They had come to him "highly restricted, hand-carried and sealed," he huffed to my associate Joseph Spear.

Ambassador McIlvaine's eyewitness account, Hannah maintained, was only an "allegation." Hannah had dispatched Tollefson to London, he said, to discuss the matter with Samuel Adams, AID's African Administrator — a fact which is confirmed by a subsequent telegram we have obtained.

Reached in Nairobi, Tollefson denied the Ambassador's charges and said they were based on a complete misunderstanding. "He had only two drinks," he said, and took the Vice President's secretary to meet the elephant "at her request." He blamed the imbroglio on unnamed "Democratic holdovers" in the Foreign Service.

Assassination Balderdash
A new and far-fetched theory of the assassinations of President Kennedy, Sen. Robert Kennedy, Dr. Martin Luther King and Malcolm X is circulating on Capitol Hill. It is contained in a 14-page report buttressed by various documents, which was put together by Don Riley, a labor union employee and assassination buff from San Francisco.

Its conclusion is that all four were killed by the same "conspirator": CIA agents, anti-Castro Cubans, some Dallas police, FBI operatives, "State Righters," Nazis, a "clique of very conservative businessmen (mostly oil)" and right wing religious leaders. We have criticized every one of these groups at one time or another.

But our own investigations convince us that the new "theory," as earnest and ingenious as it may be, is pure balderdash.

Calis Congressman Liar

Rep. Robert Steele, R-Conn., who came back from Vietnam with reports of a 10 per cent GI drug addiction rate, was called a "liar" and compared to a "moron" by the White House's number two narcotics expert, brash 28-year-old Jeff Donfeld.

Donfeld, a former escort of Tricia Nixon and who also once worked in Nixon's law firm, recently visited Vietnam to study drugs.

He came up with a rate well below Steele's 10 per cent. At a White House briefing for 48 congressional interns from Steele's home state of Connecticut, Andy Mark, 18, asked Donfeld if Steele's figure was correct. Mark told us that Donfeld shot back, "Mr. Steele is a liar... Facts like that often come from a moron." Another intern, David Goulet, 20, confirmed the "liar" quote, but recalled that Donfeld said Steele's reporting "was of a caliber that could be done by a moron."

Donfeld admitted he called Steele a "liar," a most uncommon term for a White House staffer to call a Republican Congressman. But he insisted he said only Steele was "stupid" for using hearsay data.

The hot-headed young Donfeld, in his new post as number two consultant to President Nixon on drugs, is not likely to endear himself with Congressmen who must handle his drug proposals by calling them liars.

Steele is a member of the House Foreign Affairs committee which deals in part with traffic in drugs to the U.S.

Henry J. Taylor Says West Germany's Socialization

BONN — West Germany Chancellor Willy Brandt is now using a personal doer-of-the-dirty-work who constantly infuriates our U.S. Embassy people here and our Washington officials alike. And, behind the scenes, Brandt's excuses for this are highly suspect among important Americans who work with him.

Brandt has put financial czar Karl Schiller in front by making Schiller the combined and single overlord (unprecedented) of West Germany's financial and economic affairs and then passing the buck to Schiller whenever the policies boomerang on Brandt himself or when the Western allies complain.

Along with being prone to the ugly habit of looking down his long nose at the United States, Schiller has what the French call "franchise," an insufferable arrogance. In fact, he is precisely the kind of German official that has caused so much trouble in Europe and the world — an egotistical strutter and obelisk of tactlessness who asks no one anything and whose eyes turn to brass and whose command is a bark when he seeks to be impressive.

Brandt is causing widespread dissatisfaction among the Common Market ministers and in England regarding the way he is "floating" the upward revalued German mark, so vital over here and likewise to us in the United States by its strain on our dollar. But Brandt meets our protests by merely saying, in effect, "It's Schiller — not me."

Schiller, at the moment, is in a bitter row domestically with Georg Leber, Minister of Traffic and Transport. This is the third time Schiller has used the technique of "or else I will resign" to have his way in cabinet disputes. But Brandt is backing Schiller to the hilt — using the alibi that he cannot afford Schiller's resignation so soon after appointing him only two months ago — while appearing to stand aloof.

Brandt's pro-Soviet roots are not proved but they continue to be debated and his policy — using Schiller — most certainly is to socialize West Germany. Brandt blithely calls this "co-determination." It exists only in the coal and steel industry, imposed by British occupation authorities in 1951, and under its rules a labor manager is mandatory on management boards.

What Brandt's "co-determination" really means is government and labor control of this country's main enterprises in a takeover at the management level and yet without appearing to seize and confiscate the property.

It's the old story of why seize the farmer's cow, with all the complications that are in that, when, instead, you can let the farmer keep the cow and you seize the milk.

The "co-determination" issue has now come to a head at Volkswagen. This is Germany's largest company, with its headquarters at nearby Wolfsburg. The Brandt government and of Lower Saxony, both dominated by labor representatives, now hold the majority of Volkswagen proxies and on July 1 they proceeded to exercise these with a vengeance.

At the annual meeting that day they put 10 new members on Volkswagen's 21-man supervisory board and now have a clear government-labor majority.

This was fiercely contested by the independent shareholders. It was likewise opposed by the Christian Democrats and the Free Democratic party and apparently by the West German public as a whole. But Brandt again used Schiller, and prevailed in his "co-determination" policy at Volkswagen behind the Schiller smoke screen.

The new Volkswagen supervisory board has four federal and state officials, seven labor representatives and 10 outsiders, of which at least five are Brandt stooges. It controls the company's executives, with power to hire and fire them, including immensely successful Volkswagen chief Kurt Lotz. And it is generally agreed here that Brandt's next move will be to impose a labor manager over Lotz or kick out the remarkable Lotz if Lotz complains.

Brandt's chancellorship depends on a slim parliamentary coalition majority. His majority is not even as solid as Prime Minister Edward Heath's in Britain. And whether Brandt can weather the storms here no one knows. But his unprecedented unification of financial and economic power in a single stalking horse and Brandt's two-faced choice of Schiller for his purpose makes the socialization of West Germany a certainty if the present leader of the Bonn government can prevail.

Edwin J. Baker Dies, Local Baseball Great

KINGSTON—Edwin J. Baker, 22 Second Avenue, local baseball great and city official, died suddenly this morning.

In Hudson Valley area baseball circles, Baker was known as a stylish left hander with classic pitching form and control. In addition to pitching for the original Kingston Colonials, he was a member of virtually every other name team over a 25-year career, including the Kingston All Stars, Pan Ams, Blue Sox, Knights of Columbus and numerous summer teams in the Catskill Mountain resort area. He received a tryout with the New York Giants under the late John McGraw but declined to accept a minor league assignment. He was ranked among the best pitchers ever

Man Accused In Kidnapping Appears Today

ELLEENVILLE

A 43-year-old candidate for the state senate in New Jersey is scheduled to appear at 7 p. m. today before Police Justice Ronald W. Elias for a preliminary hearing on charges of kidnapping second degree, reckless endangerment first degree and possession of a dangerous weapon, all felonies. Salvatore Marini of Toms River, N.J. has been confined in jail in lieu of $25,000 bail since his arrest on July 22 by State and village police.

Marini is accused of abducting his former common law wife, Mrs. Mary Irons from her home at 22 Hickory Street, this village on July 13. The woman was released nine hours later on a lonely section of Cuddebackville Road in Orange County.

The defendant was arrested as he was leaving Ellenville on a Short Lines bus en route for New York City. Police said the man was armed when taken in custody, but he put up no resistance. He previously entered pleas of innocent at an earlier arraignment.

Police Probe City Burglary

KINGSTON

Police investigated an attempted burglary Monday at the Mission Wood Products Co. Inc. at 47 Mill Street. Investigators said an attempt had been made to force a portion of overhead doors at the establishment.

Apparently no entry was gained. Police said cabinets and other office furniture had not been disturbed.

Woman Hurt In City Fall

Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, 38, of 628 Broadway, was injured shortly after 5 p. m. Monday when she reportedly fell while walking on the sidewalk on Tremper Avenue.

The woman was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance and treated for injuries of the legs, arms and back, an attendant said.

Firemen Arrive, Car Takes Off

Firemen responded to a call at 6:03 p. m. Monday after gasoline was reported leaking from a car on Washington Avenue at North Front Street. On arrival firemen learned the vehicle had been driven away.

A booster line from Engine 2 was used to flush the gasoline off the pavement. Captain Robert Schatzel was in charge of the fire unit.

Story Hour Is Scheduled

Silver Wedding Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT A. SWITHERS of Flower Hill, Kingston, were guests of honor at a surprise open house party Saturday, July 24, on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Married July 27, 1946 in Christ Lutheran Church, Newburgh, they are the parents of four children: Robert A. Jr., Debbie, Richard and Brian. They also have one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert A. (Nancy) Swithers Jr. Mr. Swithers is employed by IBM, Kingston. The gala, given by their children, was largely attended by relatives and friends. Many beautiful gifts were received. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

Did you eat breakfast this morning? asks Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. Many people don't eat breakfast, which is considered one of the most important meals of the day. This meal "breaks the night time fast" and gives us a bonus as well — a good start for the day.

By not eating breakfast, adults as well as children are letting themselves down. Headaches, hunger pains and drowsiness (usually starting by mid-morning) are the after effects of not eating this meal.

Most generally one is tired and work output is much less. Breakfast eaters are more alert and productive by late morning than breakfast skippers.

School children cannot learn as easily if they have gone without breakfast. They are often listless and low on energy until lunchtime when they can finally eat.

Mother-to-be should eat breakfast, too. A poor diet during pregnancy may lead to a baby born in poor physical condition.

If you are the type of person who can't eat right after you get up, then try getting up a few minutes earlier so that you can eat and not feel rushed, especially if you have to go to work or to school.

Breakfast doesn't have to consist of eggs, cereal and toast. A meat and cheese sandwich served with juice or milk may look more appealing to a child who is tiring of the same type of breakfast over and over again.

The important thing is for all of us to eat some food that supplies both energy and nourishment before the day's activities begin.

Hints From Heloise

LET'S TAKE A STRAW VOTE

Dear Heloise: When I was washing my artificial flowers, I wondered how many people knew that dried strawflowers were washable.

It is an easy procedure. Gently take them out of the vase and slip a rubber band over the stems. Then, very carefully wash them in lukewarm water with a touch of detergent.

Rinse under a slow-running stream and shake off the excess water. Then just put them back in the vase to dry.

The flowers will appear to be shriveled, but that is only because they have tightened back into buds and they will open like new when dried.

If the flowers are faded, they can be colored with water and food coloring. You may want to mix the coloring to get the correct shade, or you can change the lighter flowers to another color or a darker hue.

So don't throw your dried strawflowers away when they begin to look sad and dirty. Clean them up, they will last indefinitely.

This is a real money saving tip, because strawflowers can be stored for the season, then freshened and reused.

HELOISE

Dear Heloise: When camping, have all the dry ingredients for pancakes, etc., already measured and placed in a glass jar. Then just add the liquids and shake.

Saves time and storage too.

Julia Taiclet Weds Carl Janasiewicz Jr. Here

Miss Julia L. Taiclet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile G. Taiclet, 293 Greenkill Avenue, Kingston, and Carl Janasiewicz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Janasiewicz, 33 Jarrold Street, Kingston, exchanged nuptial vows Saturday, July 10, at 12 noon at Immaculate Conception Church, this city.

The Rev. Leo Adamski officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. William Rylance provided traditional wedding selections. Gold altar vases were filled with white gladioli, chrysanthemums and shasta daisies. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

nosegay of white and yellow roses and baby's breath.

Miss Patricia A. Scully, 195 Smith Avenue, Kingston, served as maid of honor. Attendants were Miss Carol Chick, 85 Crane Street, Kingston; Mrs. William H. Ball III, Colonial Gardens, Kingston; and Miss Jenny Stokette, niece of the bride, St. Remy, who served as junior bridesmaid. They wore gowns of honeydew green linen, fashioned with empire bodices, abbreviated sleeves and A-line length skirts. Wide banding of embroidered varicolored flowers encircled the necklines and formed V-details at the bodice fronts. They wore matching bows and streamers with tulle flirtation veils. The honor attendant carried a nosegay of white daisies, yellow sweetheart roses and baby's breath. The other attendants carried nosegays of white daisies and baby's breath.

John Secreto, 47 Arlmont Street, Kingston, was best man. Ushers were John Cris-pino, Old King's Highway, Lake Katrine; and Francis John Janasiewicz, South Charleston, W. Va., brother of the bridegroom. Joseph Janasiewicz, brother of the bridegroom, 33 Jarrold Street, Kingston, served as junior usher.

A reception for 130 guests was held at Capri "400" Restaurant, Port Ewen.

The bride wore a red, white and gray knit pant suit with white accessories and a red corsage for her wedding trip to Ocho Rios, Jamaica.

Mrs. Janasiewicz is a 1968 graduate of Kingston High School and a 1971 graduate of Ulster County Community College. She is employed as a dental assistant to Dr. W. H. Meyer. Her husband, a 1962 alumnus of Kingston High School, served four years with the U.S. Navy, Submarine Service. He is employed by IBM, Kingston.

The couple will reside at West Chestnut Street Apartments, Kingston.

Rose-Wager Nuptials

Glenford United Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Nancy Jean Rose and Donald C. Wager on Friday, July 9. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose Sr., 36 Plattekill Drive, Mt. Marion, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Wager of Old Kings Highway, Catskill.

The Rev. J. F. Reid officiated at the double ring ceremony. Traditional wedding selections were provided by the church organist and baskets of daisies and baby's breath decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a mid-length gown fashioned with a border of white print eyelet lace and blue ribbon. The empire-styled gown featured muffed sleeves and was of old fashion design. Mrs. Wager wore a daisy headpiece and carried a bouquet of daisies and baby's breath. The bride's gown was made by Suzanne Blatter, friend of the bride.

Debra Rose of Mt. Marion was maid of honor for her sister. Junior bridesmaids were Faith Rose, sister of the bride, and Virginia Petersen, cousin of the bride, both of Mt. Marion. Their mint green, lilac, and apricot gowns, respectively, were mid-length, fashioned with empire waists, muffed sleeves and featured daisy trim. The attendants carried bouquets of daisies and baby's breath. The bride made the maid of honor's gown and those of the junior bridesmaids.

Mark Jubie, Cementon, was best man. Ushers were Harry Rose Jr., brother of the bride, 36 Plattekill Drive, Mt. Marion, and Harry W. Wager Jr., nephew of the bridegroom, Old Kings Highway, Catskill.

A reception for the immediate family was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Wager selected a dark brown dress and white accessories for her wedding trip to Canada.

The bride is a graduate of Saugerties High School and Ulster County Community College. Her husband is an alumnus of Catskill High School and is employed by Storey's Nursery, Freehold.

The couple will reside at Highland Avenue, Catskill.

Suspicious Wife Wants to Trap Mate

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for many years (no children) and I have had to go see my elderly mother who is ill in another state. My husband stays in the house alone, and never mentions having any company, but I suspect he is entertaining a woman in my absence. I won't go into any of the details because I don't want others in this town to know I am suspicious, but it is possible to have our bed bugged?

SUSPICIOUS
DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Yes. But that kind of evidence would only scratch the surface.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Here is another reader who never thought she'd be writing to you, but we need outside advice.

Our 10-year-old daughter, I'll call her Mary, plays with Bob, a neighbor boy her age. We've always considered these neighbors to be very fine people.

Recently Mary went over to play with Bob, her daily custom. But Bob's mother was in the hospital, so his father came to the door. He said Bob was gone for a few minutes and he invited Mary inside to wait. She didn't hesitate since this was not unusual.

Then Bob came home, and the father quickly shoved the books under the sofa and asked Mary not to tell anyone about their little visit. She came directly home, and told me the whole story.

I told my husband, but no one else. We wonder what he should do about this, if anything. Our association with these neighbors has been very cool since this incident, and I'm sure the wife, who is home now, is wondering why because we were on very pleasant terms before. What should we do?

NEEDS ADVICE
DEAR NEEDS: You and your husband should arrange a private talk with your neighbor immediately. Tell him Mary reported the incident in detail. In as gently and unemotional tone as you can manage, let him know that no normal, healthy man behaves as he did with a 10-year-old girl, and for his own sake as well as for his family's, he should submit voluntarily to a psychiatric examination and whatever subsequent treatment is indicated. Also, that he must provide you with proof of it. Tell him, too, that if he does not do so at once you will take the matter up with his wife and or the authorities. With a threat like that he is not likely to refuse.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old and the oldest of three boys. When one of my younger brothers does something wrong, my parents give him a warning, but when I do something wrong, I get a punishment. Will you please tell me why?

THE OLDEST
DEAR OLDEST: Maybe it's because your parents figure since you're the oldest you've had enough warnings to know better.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

European Teachers Visiting Area Families

Thirty-five elementary and secondary school teachers from five West European countries are visiting 27 families in the Mid-Hudson area during July and August for one or two weeks on the American Host Program.

More than 600 teachers are in the United States this summer on this program, now in its tenth year, whose purpose is to enable the participants to gain a realistic and truthful understanding of American life.

Teachers assigned to local families include Mr. and Mrs. Eberhard Neuman of Germany with Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLaughlin of West Hurley; Mrs. Britt Gunnarsson of Sweden with Mr. and Mrs. James Torpy of Rhinebeck; Miss Bernadette Douchet of France with Mr. and Mrs. William McCoy of New Paltz; Miss Erika Kraemer of Germany with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Riordan of Rhinebeck; Miss Hannelore Schmidt of Germany with Mr. and Mrs. Simon Lawrence of 80 West Pierpont Street, Kingston; Colin Morrison of England with Mr. and Mrs. William Nancy, 100 Maiden Lane, Kingston; Mrs. Marianne Barnbeck of Germany with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder of Olivebridge; Mrs. Violet Owen of England with Mr. and Mrs. James Crowell of Wallkill; and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hamers of Germany with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beeman of Red Hook.

Miss Maria Pennings of Holland visited with Mr. and Mrs. Nestor Bryant of Mt. Tremper through July 24 and is now visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Saugerties through July 31. The Smiths, along with their children Linda Anne and Carol Joy, have corresponded with Miss Pennings prior to her visit here.

Miss Pennings, an elementary school teacher, considers her position "a thankful job." Her interests include the fields of politics, modern affairs, religion, music, sports, travel and all subjects pertaining to education. She lists her hobbies as photography, tennis, skating and music.

During her stay here, Miss Pennings has been entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Larson of Blue Hills Drive, Barclay Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Place of Catskill.

Visiting teachers will be introduced to area industry, schools, colleges and scenic points of interest during their stay here. They are able to meet a cross-section of Americans by staying with families in at least two different areas. The American families gain an insight into European life after entertaining an English-speaking teacher in their home for one or two weeks.

This week Miss Pennings and the Smith family are on a camping tour to Proctor, Vt. They will visit the Marble Museum. In Granniteville they will observe a marble quarry in operation, a maple sugar museum in Barre, Vt. They also plan visits to Howe Caverns, Cobleskill; Kodak Plant in Rochester, Niagara Falls, Power-Vista and the Niagara Aquarium. To complete their travel-camping tour of New York on Friday, July 30, they will visit the Corning Glass Center and the Glass Museum.

Teachers assigned to families in the Poughkeepsie area include Mrs. Liselotte Hoffmann of Germany with Dr. and Mrs. DeForest Palmer, 139 Rochdale Road; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Luehrs of Germany with Mr. and Mrs. George Zelle, 42 Croft Road; Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Stumm of Germany with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Case, 86

Round Hill Road; Miss Ingrid Brucke of Germany with Mr. and Mrs. E. Hall MacMannis Jr., of Billings; and John Gautrey of England with Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hubbard of Maple View Road, LaGrangeville. Other host families in the Mid-Hudson area are from Cornwall-on-Hudson, Pawling, Walden and Newburgh.

DUTCH VISITOR—Miss Maria Pennings of Holland at left, chats with Mt. Marion School teacher Mrs. Roberta Place and Carol Joy Smith, daughter of the host family Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of 19 Manor Lane, Barclay Heights, Saugerties. The teachers discussed teaching techniques with Carol serving as a willing participant. Mrs. Place also taught in Europe. Area residents interested in joining the American Host Plan for 1972 should write to the American Host Program, Hotel New Yorker, Eighth Avenue and 34th Street, New York.

NOTICE TO ALL AREA Women's Organizations

If your organization has been publicized on the pages of The Freeman for the year, it has been in existence (up to 100 years), this fact deserves mention on the pages of The Daily Freeman's 100th Anniversary Issue to be printed on Monday, October 18, 1971. This issue will be the most current story of area history to date. Your organization represents part of this history, and we urge you to participate in this Anniversary Issue. Not to congratulate us . . . but to tell a little about your organization and to "toot your own horn" so to speak.

If you are a non-profit organization your rate is $2.00 a column inch. As an example: If you make a space reservation of 2 columns across and 5 inches down, a total of 10 inches the cost would be $20.00. Of course you may reserve more or less space and the cost would increase or decrease accordingly. The Freeman Display advertising department will be more than happy to assist you in making up your advertisement.

Over 1475 extra copies of this issue have already been ordered for delivery to various places. Space reservations are being made daily. Join the Women's Organizations who have already reserved space. To be a part of this great undertaking, call The Freeman Display Advertising Department.

AMERICAN TRADITIONAL INTERIORS

Woodstock Open to Parsons With 4-Under 66

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

WOODSTOCK

Johnny Parsons, a 28-year-old amateur from Auburn, looked like anything but a winner when he went off the first tee in the $2,000 Woodstock Open here Monday.

The 1965 New York State Amateur finalist slammed his first drive out of bounds and settled for a double-bogey six.

After that he played near flawless golf to card a 4-under-par 34-32-66 to win first place by one stroke over the finest field in the 34-year history of the village classic.

The winner's card showed 11 pars and six birdies (three on each side) after the first-hole debacle.

Parsons' 66, posted in the morning round, barely withstood late afternoon charges by a group of big name golfers including Bill Odeneal of New Paltz, Rick Spears of Port Jervis, fresh off a third place tie in the New York State Amateur and pros Jay Marshall of Pine Brook and Al Stein, the smooth swinging Glens Falls Country Club ace.

Odeneal shared a second place tie for the second straight year with his 35-32-67 and had a missed two-foot putt on the 13th hole to haunt him. Spears, a pre-tournament favorite, managed only one birdie on the front nine but stormed back with a 4-under-31 on four birdies on the backside for 36-31-67. Marshall carded 34-33 and Stein had 32-35 for their 67s. In the sudden death playoff for first prize of $300, Stein and Marshall were both short of the green on their approach shots. Stein chipped to within six inches but Marshall slipped four feet past. Marshall nicked the cup on his bid for the 4 and Stein tapped in his short one to close out the match.

Eleven players in the 85-player field broke par 70. Dan Powell, assistant pro at Catskill Country Club, posted 36-32-68, a figure tied by Toby Lyons, veteran Greenwich, Conn. campaigner who fashioned 34-34.

There was a four-way deadlocked at 69 among three amateurs and a pro. John Maurycy, Walhalla pro, carded 36-33. Tom Haggerty of Edison fired 37-32. Anthony Maragno of Pine Brook had 36-33 and Ralph DeStefano of Dutchess, winner of the 1971 Wiltwyck Invitational, had 36-33-69.

Joe Modica, Woodstock's top amateur, matched par figures with 33-37-70 and Ian (Scotty) Robertson, former Wiltwyck professional now at Windham, fashioned 37-33-70.

Bobby Hines, the 1970 winner when the tournament was first played at 18 holes, slipped one over par at 35-36-71 to tie veteran Twaalfskill professional, Alex Gerlack who carded 35-26-71.

Only Alex Gerlack finished in the money among the county pros. Host pro Jim Hutchins of Woodstock fashioned 38-36-74. Stew Smith of Sawyerkill carded 39-39-78. Bill Reilly had 38-38-76 and Rich Aaron of the Granit at Accord 41-28-79.

Parsons' victory marked the third straight year an amateur has taken the coveted Open title. Leon Randall of Wiltwyck captured the last 27-hole event with a record breaking 96 in 1969 and Hines won the 1970 event with a 2-under-par 68.

With all the components of his game clicking, Parsons hit 15 greens and collected three birdies on each side. "There's no real advantage to a long ball hitter on this course," said Parsons, who kept his ball in play all the way.

Parsons' complete mastery of the demanding par-3 holes (No. 4 and No. 9) furnished a clue to his brilliant victory. He birdied the 190 yard 4th twice and had a par and birdie 2 on the strong finishing hole.

Parsons' hot putter accounted for two longies — a 25-foot birdie 3 on the No. 8 hole and a 40-foot snake on the 13th (4th). "I could hardly see the hole from where I putted," said Parsons, "but the ball just kept rolling and fell in the cup." He ran down a 10-footer on the 4th hole and 6-footer on the par-5 fifth. The birdies on 15th and 18th were from under three feet.

Parson, who is a sales representative for the Ping utters and Clubs of Phoenix, Arizona, said he was moving to New England in the next couple months.

Johnny Parsons — The Winner

Gibson's Arm Is Hurting, But So Are Those Metsies

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Every time Bob Gibson throws a baseball, it hurts him. And when he's working against New York, it hurts the Mets even more.

Gibson limited the Mets to five hits Monday night and pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-0 victory over New York for his second straight shutout and the 47th of his career.

In Monday night's only other action, Chicago dropped Montreal 5-2, Minnesota nipped Boston 2-1 and Houston topped Philadelphia 7-4 in 15 innings.

Gibson's victory was the 25th of his career against the Mets. No pitcher has beaten New York more than that. And a few pitchers work with as much pain as the flame-throwing right-hander who is now just two wins away from 200 for his career.

"It's painful, but not painful enough to keep me from pitching," Gibson said of the damaged muscle in his right thigh which kept him on the disabled list for three weeks earlier this season.

Gibson's shutout moved his record for the season to a still unimpressive 8-9. His earned run average has been in unfamiliar territory—over 3.00—all season.

"Some years everything goes well with you," said Gibson. "You can make all kinds of mistakes and get away with them. And other years, nothing goes for you."

Gibson knew this wasn't one of his years when the Mets beat him the first two times they met this season. But Monday's shutout increased his career log to 25-9 against New York. He was unimpressed by the statistics.

"What's the difference who you beat," the pitcher shrugged, "as long as you beat them."

Joe Torre made Gibson's task easy, drilling three hits to run his current hot streak to 12 hits in his last 18 swings. Torre, the National League's leading batter, drove in two runs in the first inning and then Gibson tripled and scored on Lou Brock's bunt single in the second.

Matty Alou's ninth inning homer accounted for the Cardinals' other run.

Gibson's shutout kept the Cardinals tied with Chicago for second place in the National League East. The Cubs used Milt Pappas' five-hit pitching to beat Montreal in a nationally televised game.

Jim Hickman led Chicago's attack with three hits, driving in two runs and scoring another. The Cubs were trailing 2-1 until the sixth when they bunched five hits for three runs against loser Steve Renko, 9-11.

Pappas, 11-9, surrendered single runs in the second and third innings but was in control after that. "I hope we get on national television a bit more often," the veteran right-hander said. "We've been on twice and I've won twice."

Jim Kaat outlasted Sonny Siebert in a pitcher's duel and Minnesota nipped Boston on Jim Holt's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning.

The Twins had tied the score against Siebert on George Mitterwald's seventh inning homer after the Boston ace had limited them to three hits over the first six innings.

Rich Reese opened the ninth with a triple when his low drive got past Reggie Smith in right field. After Siebert loaded the bases with a pair of intentional walks, he got Mitterwald on a short fly but then Holt delivered the winner.

Smith had three hits, drove in Boston's run and also turned in some outstanding defensive plays in right field until the ninth.

Cesar Cedeno, who had key doubles in two earlier Houston rallies, touched off the winning three-run spurt in the 15th inning with a single as the Astros whipped Philadelphia.

Oilers Swap LeVias For Two Top Players

When Ed Hughes assumed the head coaching chores at Houston he promised to strengthen the Oilers' offensive and defensive front lines.

Keeping his vow, he placed fleet-footed wide receiver Jerry LeVias on the trading block and received two mammoth bruisers—6-8, 225-pound Ron Billingsley and 6-8 300-pound Gene Ferguson—from the San Diego Chargers Monday.

LeVias, a 5-foot-10 170 pounder whose ball-snaring prowess made him a big hit with Houston fans, led the Oilers in scoring receptions for both of his pro seasons.

Billingsley, who was San Diego's top draft pick in 1967 and had been a starting defensive right tackle, is expected to help bolster the Oiler defensive wall.

Ferguson, a three-year pro veteran, has seen action as both an offensive and defensive tackle for San Diego and probably will play on offense for Houston.

The Green Bay Packers acquired veteran signal-caller Gary Lane in an effort to bolster their quarterback strength. Battle-scarred Bart Starr, the 37-year-old who quarterbacked the Packers to four world championships, is slated to undergo surgery Wednesday in an effort to correct his ailing arm.

Other Packer quarterbacks include Frank Patrick, rookie Scott Hunter and 39-year-old Zeke Bratkowski, who is attempting to shake off the rust after spending two seasons as an assistant coach.

Winnipeg Whips No Longer Losers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A doubleheader split ordinarily isn't much of an accomplishment, but it was a Godsend Monday night for the Winnipeg Whips.

The Whips, comfortably ensconced in last place in the International League 26½ games off the lead, defeated the Charleston Charlies, 8-7, in the nightcap of their twinbill to end a 12-game losing streak. The string was their longest since moving to Winnipeg from Buffalo 13 months ago.

The Charlies had won the first game, 5-3, on a seven-hit pitching effort by Gene Garber, who improved his record to 11-4.

Louisville and Toledo also split a doubleheader, the Colonels taking the first game 4-3 but the Mud Hens coming back in the second, 2-0.

Jose Calero pinch-hit a single up the middle in the bottom of the eighth to drive in the first-game winning run for the Colonels. That ran their winning streak to six, but Chip Swanson snapped it in the nightcap as he hurled a five-hitter for Toledo.

After TKOing Ellis in 12th

Ali's Future—Joe Frazier

WINNER AGAIN: Referee Jay Edson stops the fight and declares Muhammad Ali the winner over Jimmy Ellis by a TKO in the 12th round of the scheduled 12-round heavyweight bout in the Houston Astrodome Monday night. Ali was well ahead on points when the referee stopped the fight. It was Ali's first fight since he lost the heavyweight championship to Joe Frazier. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

HOUSTON (AP) — Muhammad Ali surprised even himself with glimpses of the past Monday night but his sights are on the future today and the future is Joe Frazier.

"I'm still in training right now," Ali said. "I'll be fighting again in six weeks," he added, only minutes after he battered Jimmy Ellis helplessly into the ropes for a technical knockout in the 12th round of their heavyweight 12-round bout in the Astrodome.

"I can't let up now," Ali said. "I'll be running four miles again tomorrow."

Ali certainly proved he was ready for phase two of his plan for a rematch with heavyweight champion Frazier. He wanted three fights before the rematch, and he danced a step closer in defeating Ellis.

He also made a believer of Ellis, Ali's former sparring partner and the former World Boxing Association champion.

Ellis said Ali was faster now than when he lost the heavyweight title to Frazier March 8.

"The man is an athlete," Ellis said. "He takes care of himself. All he needs is work.

You can't lose 3½ years and have an easy time coming back."

Before a live audience of 31,947 and almost a million more in closed circuit television, Ali danced the famed Ali shuffle throughout the 12 rounds.

"I can't explain the footwork," Ali said. "I was feeling strong at the end of the fight."

Ali also said he wasn't bothered by his weight of 220½ for the fight, the heaviest of his career.

"It might have slowed me down a little, but in the long run it didn't hurt me," Ali said. "I danced all the rounds and I don't feel tired now."

Ali said it was all a matter of his mental preparation concerning the difference in his approaches in fighting Ellis and Frazier.

"I didn't plan to dance against Frazier," Ali said. "But tonight, I was thinking about dancing."

A barrage of lefts and rights by Ali in the final round sent Ellis reeling around the ring, and he almost went down twice.

Ellis was helpless on the ropes when referee Jay Edson stopped the fight at 2:10 of the 12th round. Ali stood over Ellis several seconds before Edson stopped it, with Ellis dangling.

LL Finals to Nationals

TOWN OF ULSTER Brian Boler's base hit drove in Gerald Cunningham with the winning run in the bottom of the sixth to give the Kingston Nationals a 4-3 win over the Town of Hurley and the District 16 Little League championship Monday night.

Cunningham and Pete Gallagher had singled off Hurley pitcher Kevin McLane to start off the home sixth after the designated visitors had tied the game in the top of the inning.

Boler had come in the contest as a relief pitcher and his game winning hit was his first official at-bat.

The game was scoreless for two innings. Kingston then put a run on the board in the third. Hurley countered with a pair in the fourth to go in front, but the Nationals came right back with two more in the bottom of the fifth to carry a 3-2 lead into the final inning.

Hurley then tied the game and threatened to get more when the Nationals inserted Mark Berardi on the mound in place of Boler. Berardi fanned the two men he faced and eventually received credit for the victory.

Steve Costello of Kingston was the only player in either lineup to get two hits. His double was the only extra base knock.

Boler, Dave Loeffler, and Costello with two, were the Kingston RBI producers. Mark Dugroo had Hurley's lone RBI.

McLane struck out four and walked two in taking the loss.

Kingston starter Todd Wonderly fanned nine and walked three.

Boler passed three, and Berardi had the two strike outs.

Glasco, Cole Triumph

WINDHAM Tim Cole has done it again. This time he pitched a three-hitter, while striking out 13 batters and walking none, to lead the Glasco-East Kingston Little League All Stars to a 10-3 victory over the Windham All Stars at Windham Park.

Catcher Karl Lezette came through with a pair of doubles to lead Glasco's offense, while teammates John Mauro, Joe Schell and Tom Francello chipped in with a double apiece.

Cole aided his win by hitting a pair of singles while the rest of the Glasco players had at least one hit.

Cole only had to face 22 batters in the six inning game, and of the hits that he gave up two were singles, and one was a home run by Ken Thompkins.

Windham sent in three pitchers: Bob Hubbs, who was bombed out by a four-run fourth inning; Thompkins, who received the same treatment in the sixth inning when Glasco scored six runs; and finally

Vin Alberti, who finished up the game. The loss was charged to Hubbs.

The win for Glasco moves them up to the semi-finals in the District 15 Little League Tournament. Their next game will be tonight against the Saugerties Little League All-Stars in Cossack.

Ellis was helpless on the ropes when referee Jay Edson stopped the fight at 2:10 of the 12th round. Ali stood over Ellis several seconds before Edson stopped it, with Ellis dangling.

Braves Make Ions Sorry They Came

KINGSTON Someone forgot to tell the Wappingers Falls Ions that they were supposed to play a double-header in Dietz Stadium Saturday night against the Braves. So the Dutchess County team showed up in time for an 8 p.m. single game while Kingston sat and waited for two and a half hours.

When Wappingers finally did arrive Kingston took out its anger on the visitors by defeating them, 6-1, for the Braves' fifth consecutive win.

Another game scheduled for Sunday at Valley Central was postponed at the last minute when it was discovered that a Babe Ruth League game was also supposed to be played there.

Anton "Jim" Shomaker turned in one of those games which are becoming his trademark for Kingston Saturday. The Big Indian Brave gave up only two hits, his second two-hitter of the season to go along with a pair of one-hitters. He fanned ten giving him 38 ks in 34 frames. But he also passed six, and that's 35 in 36 innings.

Both Ion hits came in the second. Bill Lynch and Steve Miller produced them and a sacrifice fly to George Caruso brought in the first and only Wappingers Falls run.

Kingston came right back with three in the bottom of the second. With one out, pitcher Marty Dubinski walked two Braves batters. Shomaker went up to sacrifice and wound up with a bunt single to load the sacks. John Carter looped a single for one run. Dave Horton hit into a force play for another, and a double steal, Shomaker scoring, brought in the third.

Carter led off the fourth with a walk. He moved to second on a sacrifice, third on an infield out, and scored Kingston's fourth run on an infield hit by among three Ions and the final run came across.

Jerry Hawkins. The Braves closed the scoring in the sixth when with one out George Geanuelas reached on an infield bouncer and stole second. Hawkins lined a double to center for an RBI. Pete Watzka then hit a pop up to short right which dropped Hawkins had three of Kingston's 11 hits. Watzka cracked out two base knocks to make his six for the last eight trips to the plate.

The Braves are home again Wednesday night against the Newburgh Atoms.

SPECIAL SUMMER SCHOOL UNDERWAY—Summer school began recently for 21 youngsters enrolled in a special summer program for children with learning problems, sponsored by the Ulster County Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. Classes are held Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Edson School, under the direction of Thomas Sartori, an assistant professor at the State University at New Paltz. The intensified program is designed to equip the youngsters with "learning readiness." Among those participating are, (seated, L-R), Tracey Watkins, James Petinichi and Kenneth Royce and volunteers Robert McCullough and Lisa Pollack. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Ellenville Voters To Settle Issue

ELLENVILLE. Pushing the limits back to 2.3 mile will mean 650 children, including 100 kindergarten, will walk next year if school district voters again defeat the transportation proposal.

The proposal, either as part of a budget or as a separate proposition, has been defeated three times. District voters will get one more shot at it Aug. 10.

The proposition, if approved, would enable the district to go back to its former 2.3 mile limits for busing. The district is under an austerity budget, and 2.3 mile limits are mandated by the state.

Elementary children will have to walk two miles to the school or to the bus (the bus is the school house for figuring busing limits). Junior and High school students will walk if they live inside of three miles.

For people who do not actually know what the limits are, here they are as provided by school district authorities:

To the north, the two mile limit is the Napanoch School. Three miles is the intersection of Old 209 and 209 at the Nordland property.

To the south, the two-mile limit is the intersection of 209 and Oak Ridge Road. Three miles is between Kelly's farm and Lewis' Garage.

To the west, two miles is the intersection of Briggs Highway and 52. Three miles is the second intersection of Old Greenfield Road and 52 at State Marker 1073 on Route 52, and between the Marcus crossroads and Hacienda Road (closer to Marcus crossroads) on Briggs Highway.

To the east, two miles would be the bridge just before Speck's. Three miles is State Marker 1127.

All of the above locations are approximate, pending exact measurement, but Ed Smith, school district transportation supervisor, says they are not far off.

All of the shuttles except the Yeagerville, Sholan, Mt. Mongola, and Irish Cape shuttles, are eliminated under the 2.3 mile limits (the main bus is the school house). The four shuttles named would be only for elementary students.

Under the austerity limits, the district is not running summer school transportation. During the regular school year, it will not make the 4:30 and activity runs.

THE BUCK STOPS HERE

But you don't. Until you reach the hospital. But don't be thrown for a financial loss; our hospital policy covers you for illness and accident. So you worry about getting well... not getting the money to pay for it.

Controversy Erupts On Plattekill Avenue

By WADE BURKHART
NEW PALTZ Controversy over the widening of Plattekill Avenue erupted even before the minutes of previous meetings had been approved at last night's meeting of the New Paltz Village Board of Trustees.

The minutes from a previous special meeting stated that Mid-Paltz Interests had declined to deed the necessary property to the village to widen the street, and the village would therefore offer to buy the property for the price per square foot MPI paid to the village for the property upon which MPI is planning to put up the new post office.

MPI received approximately two acres of land from the village for $9000 about three years ago on which to put up the post office.

Kathleen Scott, one of the principals of MPI, interrupted the State University of New York to say she didn't remember that the parcel the village needs

MPI declining to deed the property to the village.

Trustee John Logan said they had declined, and furthermore had "jobbed" the village out of the two acres for the $9000. He considered it only fair the village pay to MPI which it had received per square foot for the two acres.

Jesse Bickmore, another principal of MPI, said the two acres was not in question. He said the land for the Plattekill expansion would come from three other properties, one of which was the former Bivona property, for which MPI paid $35,000.

Logan appeared unimpressed. Logan said there was "hanky-panky" surrounding the whole deal. The minutes were finally approved, and the issue with condemnation. The village submitted by Building Inspector is seeking to acquire the Arthur Pritchett, were finally approved.

Word was received from property to keep a Carrols free of zoning violations. Porto Chancellors Ernest L. Boyer of hamburger stand from locating said he had dropped the legal there, in the heart of New Paltz, action the board had instituted to say she didn't remember that the parcel the village needs Gerald Evans, of Gardiner, to get the violations corrected.

to complete its share of the was appointed village police by the Faculty-Student Association, but is under until March 1972, when the post will be open for election. Evans will not be eligible to run unless he moves to the village, but Porto said he was eligible for appointment until elections.

Trustee George Ackert said they had been told by the Faculty-Student Association the land was SUNY's "three or four months ago". Logan said the failure of the association to transfer the land to the village board and the village police, was an "act of poor faith", and hammered out the last few the actions of the association changes at the meeting, and were characterized by "sub-terfuge, shilly-shallying around, the trustees approval. The trust's approval ended the village Attorney Dominick negotiations which had been Porto reported the village's going on since February. Porto informed the board that the Village Arms Apartments, the Village submitted by Building Inspector is seeking to acquire the Arthur Pritchett, were finally approved.

Possibility of Assassination Was Kennedy Consideration

NEW YORK (UPI)—A Look Magazine writer said Monday Sen. Edward M. Kennedy told him the possibility of assassination was a key consideration in reaching a decision whether to run for the presidency in 1972. Writer Warren Rogers, in the current issue of Look, said Kennedy's wife Joan and others in the family, including Robert Kennedy's oldest son, Joseph III, opposed the candidacy. But Kennedy denied he had made any promise to his mother, Rose, to stay out of the race. Rogers, who is close to several members of the Kennedy family, said the Massachusetts senator told him during a recent interview the possibility of assassination was "the most crushing" consideration in making a final decision to seek the Democratic nomination next year.

"Even if I were to reach out for this opportunity, personal pressures are overriding—subjecting my family to fears over my safety—the tensions of my mother . . . Kennedy was quoted as saying.

"My family and I take seriously my responsibility to my brothers' children as well as my own, and the tragedies—my brothers, the plane crash, the death at Chappaquiddick—anybody would be enormously affected by such experiences. Then too, maybe I would like to do it later on, in a different climate, more on my own," Kennedy said, according to Look.

Although Kennedy expressed the conviction "that have the best chance of putting together a coalition that would succeed," he said he doubted whether the national mood was right for the kind of leadership identified with the Kennedys.

"I feel it in my gut that it's the wrong time, that it's too early," Kennedy said.

Thousands View Cumorah Pageant

PALMYRA, N.Y. (AP) — The 1971 Hill Cumorah Pageant was underway today following a rain-threatened performance Monday evening.

About 7,000 persons witnessed the pageant's opening night after skies cleared about two hours before the performance was to have begun. Rain wiped out this year's dress rehearsal, slated for last Saturday, but officials declared Monday's staging flawless.

IBM Presents New Computer

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI) — The International Business Machines Corp. Monday introduced a new computer-assisted medical examination system.

IBM said it gives test results as well as a detailed summary of the patient's medical history for the doctor to analyze. The system rents for $2,400 for the first year, after which charges are waived, IBM said.

Recruit Killed By Lightning

FORT DIX, N.J. (AP) — A 20-year-old Army recruit from Saranac Lake, N.Y., was killed by lightning that struck a group of trainees on this infantry reservation Monday.

The man was identified as Ronald A. Pecteau.

Seventeen other men suffered superficial burns and were treated at Walston Army Hospital.

The incident took place in a training area at Pre-Pro Park near Pennsylvania Avenue and Huntsville Road, an Army spokesman said.

Blind Prisoner Freed

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI) — Attanasio Pedone was sentenced to 17 years in prison on conviction of acting as the lookout for a 1958 robbery in which a man was slain. He was pardoned Monday after it was found he had been blind since birth.

Justice Schweitzer May Answer Charges

NEW YORK (UPI)—A State Supreme Court justice says he is considering testifying today before the Senate crime subcommittee which heard him described last week as "the best judge money could buy."

Justice Mitchell Schweitzer said Monday he might go to Washington to answer charges he accepted $50,000 in bribes from admitted stock manipulator Michael Raymond.

Raymond, who testified before the Senate rackets subcommittee last week that he gave Schweitzer two $25,000 bribes, called the justice "the best judge money could buy."

Sen. John D. McClelland, D-Ark., head of the subcommittee, has invited Schweitzer to reply to the charges leveled by Raymond, who testified under the name "George White."

Schweitzer has been out of town for several weeks but has denied the allegations through his attorneys and his family.

County Mishap Injures Man

RIFTON Ronald Douglas Dawson, 33, of Santa Monica, Calif., was injured shortly before midnight Monday, when the car he was driving went out of control on Route 213 near Route 32 in this community, and spun around on the highway.

Dawson was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Don's Ambulance of Rosendale and treated for minor injuries. He was later cited by Deputy Sheriff Christopher Jones on a charge of driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent.

Sergeant Raymond Davis of the sheriff's department also reported a traffic accident occurred shortly before 6:30 a. m. today on Lucas Avenue Turnpike involving a delivery truck operated by Ronald R. Temple, 35, of Cottekill.

Temple told Deputy Sheriffs Roger Lapp and Clark Johnson he was driving toward Kingston when a black and white dog ran in the path of the vehicle. The driver swerved to the right, avoided the animal but hit a tree, Davis said. Temple escaped injury, police reported.

Davis also reported the arrest of Bruce David McGrindle, 17, of 150 Broadway, Port Jervis, on a State Conservation law violation. The youth allegedly had in his possession 17 trout, which were seven more than the limit allowed by law, Davis said. The arrest was made by Deputy Sheriff Richard Ostrander and Conservation Officer Henry Bernstein in Silver Hollow on Sunday.

McGrindle pleaded guilty before Shandaken Town Justice George Kirk. He was fined $100 and released after payment.

Woodstock Man In Auto Crash

WOODSTOCK While driving his car along Rock City Road in this township at 6 a. m. today, Zane W. Zimmerman, 37, of Woodstock, reportedly lost control and the vehicle went off the right shoulder and slammed into a tree head-on.

Kingston State Police said the man was taken to Kingston Hospital where he was submitted to a blood test. He was treated for multiple lacerations and contusions of the body, and later admitted for further treatment.

Troopers R. C. Schanck and G. R. Van Allen cited the motorist for driving while intoxicated. The summons is returnable at a later date before Town Justice Rudolf Baumgarten.

Police reported Zimmerman was northbound on the highway at the time of the accident.

Sangaline Case Adjourned Until Sept. 8

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UPI)—City Court Judge Lawrence J. LaBelle today adjourned until Sept. 8 a preliminary hearing for John C. Sangaline, an Ulster County legislator and part-time state Senate postal clerk, accused of forging a state payroll check.

Sangaline, 40, a Kingston Republican, was arrested June 17 on a charge of second degree forgery. He was accused of cashing a $194.71 state payroll check, made out in another man's name, at the Saratoga harness track May 13. He later pleaded innocent and is free in $2,500 bail.

City Dems Tab Bodenweber As Candidate

KINGSTON City Democratic Chairman Lawrence Woerner announced today that William K. Bodenweber of 49 West O'Reilly Street will be the party's nominee for alderman in the 13th Ward.

Bodenweber, serving his second four-year term as a commissioner of the Board of Public Works, will be opposed by incumbent Republican Conservative Alderman Titus B. Sims.

Bodenweber was appointed to the BPW board by former Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan in 1966 and reappointed by Mayor Francis R. Koenig in September of last year.

The candidate is a former three-term alderman in the old Ninth Ward, serving in the late 1950's. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor in 1965.

Bodenweber is the owner operator of the West O'Reilly Street Laundry, a member of the Knights of Columbus, Kingston Lions Club, and the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church.

No Comment From State On Disorders

NEW YORK (AP) — State corrections officials have declined comment on an investigation into recent inmate disorders at the Greene County jail in Catskill.

The vice chairman of the State Commission of Correction, Edward Cass, revealed Monday that a commission investigator had spent two days at the jail last week.

The disruptions occurred July 17 and 18, resulting in the transfer of 11 prisoners to the Columbia County jail in Hudson.

Cass said the commission's findings were incomplete, with "many questions yet to be answered."

He said the commission would have no comment on the inquiry until after further study. Members of the commission met behind closed doors here Monday.

Date Changed
By Rapid Hose

KINGSTON Rapid Hose Co. No. 1 has changed its regular August 5 meeting to Wednesday, July 28 at 8 p. m. at the engine house, 45 Hone Street.

John Whitaker, chairman of this year's bazaar, invites all members of the company to attend this meeting in order that final arrangements may be completed. The 16th Annual Bazaar conducted jointly with the Ladies' Auxiliary will be held at the firehouse on Hone Street, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 7 p. m., August 5, 6 and 7.

Members of Rapid Hose Co. along with their apparatus will assemble with the Kingston Volunteer Firemen's Association, Thursday evening to participate in the Kingston Recreation Department parade. Captain Robert Hinkley requests all members of the company meet at the firehouse at 6:30 p. m.

Man Airbase

MANILA (UPI) — Wives manned cash registers and airmen mopped floors today to keep Clark Air Force Base operating despite a strike by 6,000 Filipino employees.

The strike began Sunday with workers demanding the firing of 181 American dependents working inside the base, some salary adjustments, more holiday payments and reinstatement of 240 fired employees.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market opened slightly lower on moderate turnover today.

Shortly after the opening, the Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.65 at 888.22. Declines edged advances, 95 to 85, among the 268 issues crossing the tape.

In the oil group, Phillips surrendered $\frac{1}{2}$ to 33 $\frac{1}{2}$. Jersey Standard and Occidental held unchanged at 79 and 77 $\frac{1}{2}$, respectively. Texaco, however, gained $\frac{1}{2}$ to 36 $\frac{1}{2}$, with Getty up $\frac{1}{2}$ to 87 $\frac{1}{2}$. Pennzoil picked up $\frac{1}{2}$ to 29 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Burlington Northern fell $\frac{1}{4}$ to 47 $\frac{1}{2}$ among the rails. Chesapeake & Ohio was steady at 60.

General Motors gained $\frac{1}{4}$ to 79 $\frac{1}{2}$ in its group. Ford tacked on $\frac{1}{4}$ to 65 $\frac{1}{2}$, but Chrysler was unchanged at 27 $\frac{1}{2}$.

Your Horoscope

Wednesday, July 28

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day and evening for you to get together with friends and to let them know you are fond of them. Take time to make travel arrangements. Extend your activities beyond present limits. Also, be on the lookout for investments or valuable assets that can aid your future. Be alert.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Someone you like now extends favors you need and life takes in a brighter hue. You have good judgment at this time so plan well for the months ahead. Don't be fooled by a smart alec.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Being a child of Venus, you can now add much color and beauty to your surroundings and accomplish much in the process. Cooperation from co-workers comes easily now. By evening you should have a contented feeling.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You ambition is toward having a larger and more worthwhile circle of friends, which is wise right now. Show mate your appreciation. Happiness can be yours if you go after it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Discuss with bigwigs how to make your life more happy and successful in the future. Go along with brilliant ideas given you. Listen to suggestion coming through from one at home. It has merit.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your partner will now discuss a matter with you that has been causing much friction of late. It can be cleared up nicely. Contact right people to plan vacation. Show courtesy to all.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are thinking in a practical way and know how to go about the business of getting advancement and finding new ways to expand your interests. Business expert gives fine ideas if you ask for them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan some time for recreation that will lift you out of a despondent mood and inspire you to greater things in the future. Find a better way to entertain those who appeal to you. Forget strife.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Look to a close tie to assist you in solving a puzzling matter. You can have a delightful time now by expressing the romantic side of your life. Show that you are a delightful person.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to be of assistance to good friends who are having difficulty carrying on with their regular routines. If you study certain matters that were puzzling they now become clear to you. Be cheerful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find an ally who can open new doors of opportunity for you with a bigwig. If you concentrate on whatever is of a practical nature, you find you make big strides forward in your career. Avoid pettiness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are able to get the right answer to a problem through a charming person who is now willing to help. Since you are filled with enthusiasm you can convince others easily. Stop wasting time foolishly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you follow through with promises you have made, you will please others tremendously and keep out of trouble. Help mate who now has a disturbing problem. Strive for better rapport.

IF YOU CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who will understand the ideals and aims of others and will be able to cooperate with them toward a mutual benefit. The ideal host or hostess is also in this chart and will be in demand at social affairs. Give as many of the advantages in life as you can early so that your child will have natural poise. College a must here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

HE JUST SAT: (Q) I'm just furious. Yesterday afternoon my boy friend came over and stayed. I didn't urge him to stay. In fact, I urged him not to; that is, I hinted to him more than once it was time to go.

Right at first he asked me if I had to baby-sit last night. I told him yes, and that I also had a stomachache and didn't feel good. He and that.

Then my mother started fixing supper and reminded me I had to wash dishes before leaving in baby-sit. I said yes, and that I needed to take a bath before supper. He didn't leave.

Everyone but he and I ate supper. He didn't go. I told him he had better call home so his parents would know where he was. He didn't, but he did go home either.

Finally, the people came to pick me up for baby-sitting. I had to leave without a bath or supper or washing dishes. What can I do next time?—Hints Didn't Work in Omaha, Neb.

(A) Next time ask him to stay for supper and help you wash the dishes afterward. If he accepts, have another plan for the next time, and follow it. Tell him you must take a bath before supper and he must go now. Head him to the door, open it for him, and shut it behind him—as sweetly as you can.

Some people have to be guided—in a nice but positive way.

BECAUSE: (Q) Everybody kept telling me to go with this girl, so I asked her to go steady with me and she said OK. I don't like her too much. I also happen to like another girl.

I want to break up. But she likes me so much I am afraid it will hurt her.—Sad Steady in Nebraska

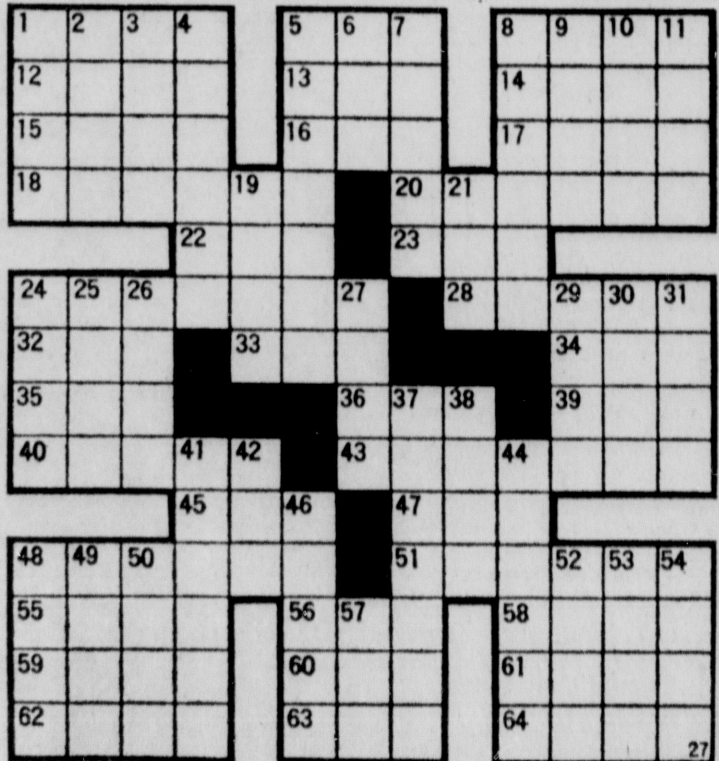

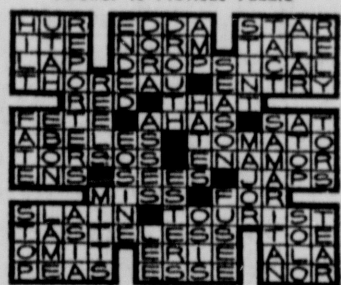

(A) You will hurt her worse if you keep pretending to like her when you don't. Break up with her today. And in the future go with the girl or girls you want to go with—not with a girl somebody ELSE thinks is the right one for you.

Apollo 15...A Good TV Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Apollo 15, scheduled to land beside the moon's Hadley Rille, will last longer, range farther and send back more spectacular television pictures than any previous moon expeditions.

After landing in the Apennine Mountains Friday, astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will ride their lunar rover across an area of about 25 miles in three separate excursions.

The lunar rover is equipped with a color television camera that has a self-contained power pack and antenna. ABC, CBS and NBC plan extensive coverage of all the activities during the 12-day journey.

The Apollo rocket lifted off with flawless precision Monday morning and in the cloudless sky, the space ship could be seen 275 miles down range until it had virtually reached orbital altitude. It was in view for six minutes, the longest time a rocket had ever been seen down range.

NBC estimated that more than 25 million people saw the lift-off.

Two moon rides will be televised Saturday and Sunday at times that will insure a large audience around the world. The pictures will go by satellite to Europe, Japan and South America. The third moon ride comes early Monday morning a few hours before the astronauts leave the moon.

If all goes well, the most spectacular pictures will be the first view of a launch from the moon, the lift-off is set for between 1:13 p.m. EDT Monday.

"We hope to park the rover about 300 feet uprange and show the lift-off," said Sam Russell, an RCA systems engineer who helped build the $100,000 camera. This new camera, mounted on the rover, will show more detail and is designed to eliminate the ghosts seen in past moon walks. It also can be pointed directly into the sun without being knocked out, as happened to the Apollo 12 camera in November 1969.

The rover camera can be completely controlled from earth, leaving the astronauts free for other duties. Each time the vehicle stops, an astronaut need only aim the umbrella-like antenna at the earth.

Even after the spacemen leave the moon, the camera will be of value. It will have power to operate for several weeks, Russell said. "There is an eclipse of the sun by the earth on Friday Aug. 6. The camera can look at the sun and will give the earth a reddish ring."

Drug Charges Revealed as Thieu Plot

SAIGON (AP) — Recent charges against Maj. Gen. Ngo Dzu of drug trafficking and corruption were part of a devious political plot to bolster sagging support for President Nguyen Van Thieu, highly placed American sources report.

The idea was to clear the way for a three-way shift in military commanders that would improve Thieu's campaign prospects in the Mekong Delta. But somebody torpedoed the plot by leaking the charges prematurely.

Although he has a firm grip on all the levers of power, Thieu reportedly has begun to recognize the possibility that he could lose the presidential election Oct. 3. He apparently has been surprised at the amount of backing Gen. Duong Van Minh is getting among Buddhists in the northern part of the country and by the extent to which the military is lining up behind Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

As a result Thieu is said to believe that he must win the election by getting an overwhelming majority of votes in the southern provinces, especially in the rural areas of the populous Mekong Delta.

The commander of Military Region 4, which encompasses the delta, is Maj. Gen. Ngo Quang Truong. He is considered probably the most able and honest field commander in South Vietnam. But Truong has proved apolitical and has not sent his division and battalion commanders, or the province chiefs and district chiefs in his region out to stump for Thieu.

The president reportedly wants to replace Truong with a man ardently devoted to Thieu's political cause, possibly Maj. Gen. Nguyen Vinh Nghi, now commander of the 21st Division. But to demote Truong to a less important command or to give him a desk job in Saigon would cause widespread dissent—possibly even rebellion—among the military.

The sources say Thieu planned to make Truong commander of Military Region 2 in the central highlands, which he considers politically unimportant but militarily critical and demanding a top-flight general. The obstacle was Gen. Dzu, the present commander.

The sources say Thieu planned to remove Dzu on charges of drug trafficking, but someone—apparently a Vietnamese trying to sabotage Thieu's plan—leaked the information to Rep. Robert H. Steele during the Connecticut Republican's visit to Saigon to investigate the drug situation among U.S. forces.

Revolt Leader Is Arraigned

KHARTOUM (UPI) — Sudanese authorities arraigned Communist Party leader Abdel Khalek Mahjoub for trial today on charges he masterminded last week's leftwing overthrow of President Jaafar Numeiry that lasted until a countercoup 72 hours later.

The trial, which political sources term the star event of Numeiry's campaign to rout conspirators, follows the execution Monday of four military officers and labor leader Shafie Ahmed El-Shiekh, bringing to 12 the number shot or hanged since the countercoup Thursday.

Sudanese authorities today hanged Joseph Garang, the former Communist minister for southern affairs, for his part in last week's abortive leftist coup. Omdurman radio announced. He was the 13th person to be executed since the coup was foiled.

The radio also reported a military tribunal sentenced Maj. Mubarak Hassan al Zein to seven years imprisonment for his part in the coup which ousted President Jaafar Numeiry for 72 hours. He was the third person to be sentenced to jail.

The four officers, including Lt. Col. Babakr Al Nour and Maj. Farouk Hamadallah who were taken from a British airliner in Libya Thursday while en route from London to Khartoum, were executed by firing squad. Sheikh, head of the Trade Union Federation, was hanged. Nour was returning to the Sudanese capital to head the Revolutionary Command Council set up after last Monday's coup.

Numeiry meanwhile approved a 20 year prison sentence today for Dr. Mustafa Khojali and a four year sentence for Lt. Zuhair Kassem Ali Bakir for what the government-run radio in nearby Omdurman said was their part in the coup against him.

Political sources said Mahjoub, 45, secretary general of the 50,000-member Sudanese Communist Party, was the regime's most wanted suspect. They said he faced the death penalty despite the anticipation of an intensive campaign by the Communist world to save him.

The Middle East News Agency (MENA) said police surprised Mahjoub at midnight Sunday while he slept in a deserted house in the ancient city of Omdurman, the Sudan's largest city which is linked to Khartoum five miles to the southeast by street car. The cities are at the confluence of the White Nile and the Blue Nile in Africa's largest nation.

Jury selection in the court-martial case continued today. Colonel William Proctor, 47, a heavily decorated veteran of three wars was tentatively seated Monday as jury foreman. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Viet Cong Sappers Blow Up Allied Base

SAIGON (UPI)—A band of Viet Cong sappers sneaked into an allied airbase near Saigon today, blew up four U.S. helicopters and wounded two Americans. They escaped without a shot being fired, the U.S. command said.

American B52 bombers, meanwhile, attacked North Vietnamese bunkers and storage areas today. 20 miles west of where South Vietnamese forces have begun a campaign in the A Shau Valley, near the Laotian border. Other B52s carried out five strikes in the northern sector.

Communications from Phnom Penh in neighboring Cambodia said about 5,000 government troops had begun a new drive to cut Communist supply lines northwest of the capital. Only one brief clash was reported, with no casualties.

A U.S. spokesman said at least four commandos got past the guards at the air base, headquarters for the South Vietnamese 5th Infantry Diviand an element of the U.S. 1st Aviation Brigade at Lai Khe, 30 miles north of Saigon.

They planted satchel explosive charges and destroyed two AH1 Cobra gunships and two OH6 light observation helicopters worth $1.6 million and fled, the spokesman said.

Lai Khe is one of the best-constructed bases the U.S. government has turned over to the Saigon command as part of its Vietnamization program. It is encircled by chain-link fences, concertina wire, sandbags and cement guard posts.

The B52 stratofortresses struck five times Monday night and early today in the far northern quarter of South Vietnam. The command said the bombers dropped more than 360 tons of explosives in four raids around Khe Sanh and one about a mile south of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Vietnam.

Another B52 formation dropped at least 90 tons of bombs on an area four miles southwest of the abandoned former French airstrip at A Luoi, just west of the A Shau Valley near the border with Laos. The target is 20 miles from the area where a battalion-size South Vietnamese force was landed by allied helicopters Monday and ran into slight contact with the Communists.

No Comment on Peking Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is sounding like a recorded announcement in refusing to discuss the new U.S. policy on China and the United Nations.

Almost two weeks after President Nixon's stunning announcement of his upcoming trip to Peking the United States continues to ponder the timing for declaring its position on U.N. status for the two Chinas.

As he has since the President told the nation of a new approach to the mainland Chinese, State Department press officer Charles W. Bray continues to answer all questions on the substance of U.N.-China policies with a "no comment."

Asked Monday when the announcement would be made, Bray answered in the same words he has used for more than a week in meeting similar queries—"The announcement is some days away."

The reasons for the "no comment" is easily found—Secretary of State William P. Rogers has ordered a news embargo on all department discussions regarding U.S.-China relations.

Motives behind the refusal to say when the U.N.-China announcement will be made are not so readily uncovered.

While he hasn't given details, Nixon has made it clear for some time he will not oppose U.N. membership for Peking, leaving to be decided the role for Taiwan and the public posture the United States should take.

But, according to several administration sources foreign diplomats, Peking's entry is a near certainty and Nixon really doesn't have much margin for action.

They indicate it comes down to trying for some sort of accommodation on a two-China policy—which has been rejected in advance by both Chinas—or voting to keep Peking out but without conducting the type of full-fledged lobbying campaign that marked previous U.N.-China debate.

Soon after presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returned from his secret trip to Peking July 9-11, a high White House official said the State Department would make public the U.S. stand on U.N. membership "in the very near future."

Another administration official suggested early last week the statement was imminent.

But in his last session with newsmen Bray said the United States is "in the process of consulting with governments having an interest in the issue of Chinese representation in the U.N."

"It won't be until the end of that process that I think we will be in a position to speak definitely to the question."

Long Opens Welfare Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long opened hearings on President Nixon's welfare reform program today, declaring the Senate Finance Committee intends to discard key guaranteed-wage provisions.

The Louisiana Democrat, chairman of the committee that will draft a Senate welfare measure, said his panel will support "a welfare program rather than a welfare-expansion program . . ."

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson and Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson were leadoff witnesses in the hearings that will continue intermittently for weeks.

The House already has passed a bill tying welfare overhaul to a Social Security benefit increase for 27.4 million Americans.

The House bill carries the minimum income provision the administration proposed, insuring $2,400 a year to a family of four, and allows the family head to earn $720 without a loss in benefits.

It also would expand welfare eligibility to cover the working poor.

The Senate committee stalled, then killed, the welfare bill in the last Congress. This time, Long said, the committee will send the Senate a bill.

But even before Richardson and Hodgson could begin arguing the administration's case, Long declared flatly the terms approved by the House will not survive.

"The majority of the committee is ready to vote for a welfare program rather than a welfare-expansion program, a program that provides a guaranteed work opportunity rather than the guaranteed income that the administration bill would provide for doing nothing at all," Long said. "The committee is willing to support legislation to help the working poor—provided that they are working, as well as poor."

"We are not willing to provide a guaranteed annual income to an able-bodied individual who is unwilling to do anything useful for that income," the chairman said.

Long called the administration program "extensive, expensive and expansive," saying it would double, to 26 million, the number of Americans eligible for federally-aided welfare benefits.

As bad as the present welfare system is, he said, the administration measure would wind up "making it a lot worse."

Monday, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce announced a study it sponsored showed the Nixon plan would discourage relief recipients from working. The study, by Prof. Alfred J. Tella and his wife, Dorothy—both Georgetown University economists—concluded persons with non-wage incomes tend to quit work after reaching a certain level of income.
